D.C. Courthouse Will Be Closed

Daly City got the news Thursday that the municipal courthouse at 75 Wellington Street was being closed at the end of this month.

For months the city, Chamber of Commerce and Mission Merchants' Association had spent considerable time in an attempt to keep the branch of the Northern Judicial Court open.

It was not only good for business in the area, but a service to the people of the community who paid for the facility through their taxes, it was contended.

Mission Merchants' Association president Vince Merlo strongly criticized the closing Thursday.

Merlo said in a recent meeting with the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors it was understood Daly City officials and civic groups would be given another chance to appear before the board after further investigation studies on the feasability of leaving the court in the city were made.

No such meeting was held and the County Manager's Office recommended the lease for the building be terminated and the court be incorporated into the new courthouse in South San Francisco, Merlo charged.

The news of the closing was received with something less than favorable comments by Thursday's meeting of the Misising his association and the sion Street Merchants.

Merlo said the methods used by the supervisors in first promchamber they would meet with them before such action was taken "and then going back on their word just stinks."

Attorney John A. Putkey had been retained by the merchants to find legal loopholes for keeping the court in the old city hall building in Daly City.

Putkey noted that Article five, Section five (1966) of the California Constitution states:

"Each county shall be divided into municipal court and justice court districts as provided by statutes. But a city may not be divided into more districts. Each municipal and justice courts shall have one of more judges.

"There shall be a municipal court in each district of more than 40,000 residents and a justice court in districts with 40,000 or less residents.

"The Legislature shall provide for the organization and prescribe the jurisdictions of municipal and justice courts. It shall prescribe for each municipal court and provide for each justice court the number, qualifications and compensation of judges, officers and employees."

Putkey further noted in his arguments to retain the courthouse in Daly City that an interpretation of the constitutional outline by Witkin specifically directs that a city within a county with more than 40,000 residents must have a court.

This information was relayed to a representative of the county manager's office. However, no reply or opinion from District Attorney Keith Sorenson's office has been received, it was pointed out.

The county contends the peolower cost by combining the courts under one roof at a central point. Each court must have a supporting staff, bailiffs, court clerks, holding facility for prisoners, and offices for the District Attorney's staff, he pointed out.

When the city moved to its new quarters at 90th and Sullivan Avenues, the county refurbished the second floor council chambers, making them into a courtroom.

Daly City expressed its intention to use the structure for a public library when the court moves.

Kathy Penford . . . Pretty and a Cop

Blonde and Pretty

Police Intern Won't Be Just A Metermaid

By FRANK LAPIERRE

She's blonde, 5'7" tall, 110 pounds and very pretty. And she's a cop.

Well, almost a member of the force.

At 19, Kathy Penfold, a student at the College of San Mateo, wants nothing more than to follow in her father's footsteps.

He was a law enforcement officer for some 20 years — 18 years on the Sunnyvale department and two as chief of the Foster City police department.

Will she be content to be a metermaid?

"No," Kathy quickly answers. "I want to be a regular policewoman. I want to be assigned to regular cases."

Right now, Kathy is a member of the Intern Program sponsored by several San Mateo County cities. That is, she now participates in the police training program at CSM and works at various duties at the Daly City Police Department under the supervision of veteran officers.

Kathy is one of four young women and 145 males in the program which trains youth for future assignment to departments of their choice.

These students, or rather "Interns," are not paid for their work in local departments. They perform tasks on their own time at their own expenses.

Gordon Penfold is proud that his daughter has taken such an interest in police work, Kathy said.

Three other youths — Dennis Swan, Michael Welker and Fred Stribling — are also assigned to the Daly City department.

All admit, however, that the hazel-eyed beauty is by far the most attractive officer working at the department.

Mayor Says:

Better Places Than Swim Pool to Spend D.C. Money

There are a lot of other things Daly City might do with its money besides build an expensive swimming pool at Westmoor High School, Mayor Bernard Lycett said Tuesday.

The mayor, still voicing upset over recent high bids submitted for construction of an Olympic-size pool at the school, asked his fellow councilmen to divorce themselves from the matter "until it resolves itself."

Architect Zavan Tatarian, designer of the pool, estimated pre-bid costs at $700,000. However, when the lone bid was received it amounted to more than $1.2 million.

It was to be a joint city-school district venture on a 60-40 ratio. That is, the city would pay 40 per cent of the costs and the school district the remainder.

But both agencies tossed out the bids last week after discussions with Tatarian.

Tatarian had offered to cut his fees down to $24,000 to redesign the pool in another attempt to bring it in under the budgeted figure. He has already billed the city and school district some $48,000.

Lycett said even the earlier figure of $800,000 was "beyond my scope" and said he would only agree to a pool that cost in the neighborhood of $400,000.

"A lot of other things I can think of could use that money in this city," Lycett said.

City Attorney Albert Polonsky, in response to a question on the subject, said the matter of the architect's fee ($48,000) has been turned over to the District Attorney's Office for an opinion.

Meanwhile, the council is expected to investigate the feasability of having a firm specializing in construction of swimming pools submit bids on the project.

Developer Wins 7-11 Store Fight

Developer Bob Berryman won an apparent victory Monday night in his fight to develop a 7-Eleven Market and liquor store on a vacant lot on Crestmoor Drive and San Bruno Avenue, just off of Interstate 280.

However, there remained one possibility that the neighbors furiously battling the store may still come out on top, as a result of Monday night's action of the San Bruno City Council. The Council formally requested that they too investigate the corner — which it created by moving San Bruno Avenue to route it under 280 — for its safety aspects.

If the State requires more land, as its proceeds with the construction of the freeway (route 280) then the State will condemn the property and use what they require to make access to the freeway safe. If such condemnation takes a large portion of the land, then the lot may not remain large enough for the proposed center.

Councilman George Corey requested that the Council show its concern for the health and welfare of its citizens by sending a letter to the State advising them that a safety problem does exist.

Residents of the lower Crestmoor area were represented by Attorney Tony Bergeron who cited several cases where zoning did not require the city to issue a building permit.

Bob Berryman, developer of the shopping center, cited a precedent in Burlingame where an appeal resulted in the building inspector being liable for holding up issuance of a permit. Mr. Berryman advised the council that he was required to have his buildings finished by July 1. If he had to go to court, he would ask for punitive damages.

Retirement Age ---

Plea to Return Teacher Tabled

It's rare when both students and faculty agree on a subject that affects the operation of a school nowadays.

But that's just what is going on at the Vista Grande School in Daly City.

The kindergarten class and faculty, under Principal Bruce Russell, want teacher Marianne Schwabacher, who has reached retirement age, to stay.

Russell, in a letter to the Board of Trustees last week, called Marianne "energetic" and "devoted."

She is a teacher "that continues to work with children with all the vitality, exhuberance and eagerness which she has demonstrated in the past," Russell wrote.

His letter, signed by eight other faculty members at Vista Grande, said Marianne's health appears to be excellent and her current stamina surpasses other persons far younger.

The kids agree.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood said he had no objection to extending Marianne Schwabacher's employment with the district for another year.

Greenwood recommended the much-loved teacher be allowed to remain for the 1972-73 year. And from that time on continue at the pleasure of the board—on a year to year basis.

The 65-year-old Miss Schwabacher is agreeable to the extension.

She wants to stay with the school as much as the children and Russell want her to stay.

"It is with pleading emotion that I respectfully request our Board to grant the wish of our colleague and allow her to return to us next year in acknowledgment of and appreciation for the dedication, loyalty and support which she has given to the board and administration over the years," Russell and the faculty wrote to the Board.

Last week, the four member Board of Trustees, currently chaired by Mrs. Dorothy Adams, took no action and instead tabled the matter indefinitely.

Delay Is Granted In Expense Hearing

Three South San Francisco councilmen scheduled to appear before Superior Court Judge Melvin E. Cohn on March 2 to show cause why they should not be enjoined from taking an automatic expense allowance will appear instead next Wednesday (March 8).

The three councilmen — Frank Bertucelli, Patrick Ahern and William Borba — voted a flat $40 car availability allowance earlier this month.

This action was followed by a taxpayers suit by resident Bob Albright on behalf of himself and all other South San Francisco taxpayers.

Attorney David Friedenberg, who filed the suit for Albright and obtained show-cause order, has been singled out for investigation by the city staff of political motives on orders of these same three councilmen.

Two other councilmen — Frank Mammini and Warren Steinkamp — do not have to show cause because they have already stipulated that they will no long accept receipt of blanket expense payments without submitting a voucher.

South San Francisco Council Candidate Gordon T. Boblitt called the action ordering Friedenberg's investigation "reminiscent of wild animals striking back when wounded."

"When we begin investigation private citizens, whether it be with taxpayers money or on nights and weekends we have reached a sorry state of government," said Boblitt.

"This action goes beyond the realm of politics. It is a flagarant abuse of someone's constitutional rights and the taxpayers money.

"It also substantiates my feeling that we must return honesty and integrity to our city government. I feel this issue is so important that no citizen should remain silent, and every candidate (Boblitt is the first) should speak on this threat to our civil liberties," said Boblitt.

Cab Service Improvement Anticipated

A marked improvement in taxi service for San Mateo County residents from San Francisco International Airport is anticipated under a new Airports Commission policy announced today.

The new taxi service is scheduled to be in full operation by 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, March 1. Special "Short-Haul" taxi stands for service between the Airport and certain close-in San Mateo County points have been established at the two airport passenger terminals. It will be manned by taxis from the Yellow Cab Company of San Francisco.

The "Short-Haul" stands will give special service to Brisbane, South San Francisco, San Bruno, Millbrae and Burlingame.

Three separate lower roadway Airport taxi stands for "Short-Haul" service will be located along the 800 ft. long South Terminal Building front and one directly in front of the lower Central Terminal. The Yellow Cab Company will see that its drivers cover these "Short-Haul" stands at all times as needed to adequately serve the public.

James K. Carr, director of airports, said the new service has also been coordinated with the Chauffeur's Union, Local 265.

The Yellow Cab Company and Union officials have agreed to take disciplinary action against drivers who refuse to convey a passenger to their destination. Both the Yellow Cab Company and the union will notify all employees of the new procedures and responsibility with respect to the short-haul passenger.

Gardening Cost in JESD Could Go Up

The cost of cutting grass and trimming shrubs around Daly City schools may double if the board of trustees decides not to continue contracting the work out to private firms.

Last year the Masini Brothers company, a north county gardening firm, was awarded the contract with their low bid of some $78,000. Their job is to keep the grounds at the Jefferson Elementary School District's 21 schools in good order.

School officials said the Masinis not only lived up to their contract to cut the grass and maintain trees and other greenery, but also saved the district thousands of dollars by repairing damaged earth slopes after heavy rains and occasionally patching small sections of pavement on the school grounds—at no cost to the district.

A recent district attorney's opinion asked for by the board of trustees through superintendent Frank L. Greenwood pointed out that such contracts were held illegal.

Assistant superintendent Roger Barthuli said the district attorney's opinion was just that—an opinion—and the legality must be tested in a court of law.

Barthuli said the district administration is expected to recommend to the board that the bid be renewed, tossing the matter back in the laps of the trustees.

Asked why the staff would recommend rebidding the contract in the wake of the district attorney's opinion on the issue, Barthuli said "because (the district) simply can't afford a big capital outlay."

The "big capital outlay" would result from the district having to set up its own gardening department. This would require manpower—perhaps as many as ten men—and considerable equipment.

A rough estimate of how much it would cost to set the district up in the gardening business ranges from $160,000 to almost a quarter of a million dollars.

These figures do not include the continuing salary and fringe benefits of employees. Nor do they include the flowers, shrubs, trees, and slope repair the Masinis had contributed to the district over the years.

"It will take at least ten men to keep up those school grounds. They have to work Sundays, holidays and sometimes at night to do it," Anthony Masini explained.

If the board goes along with the DA's opinion and holds such contracts are illegal and should be scrapped, money will have to be found to support the new maintenance force.

"The taxpayer will have to dig a little deeper," Masini ventured.

Pacifica Businessmen In Push for Industry

That image Pacifica has of being a bedroom community may soon change if a nucleus of the city's businessmen succeed in efforts to encourage industry to that coastside community.

A special Economic Development Task Force has held several meetings preparatory to developing a proposal that could be presented to the city council. The proposal is now being drafted.

Last week San Francisco Chamber of Commerce Executive Lex Byers volunteered some information to the task force and several members of the Pacifica chamber board of directors.

Byers said the most important thing for Pacifica to do is to determine what type of industry is wanted, then to put together a "community economic profile." This profile would carry all pertinent facts about Pacifica.

"San Francisco has had more problems with choice of words than in executing the ideas," said Byers. "High rise and industry turns people off." He suggested that instead of the term "area development" be used.

Byers stressed the need for the inventory profile) of the city to contain information on such things as sites available and transportation availabilities.

"You are now looking for industry to solve your tax problem. But you must remember that industry can also create more tax problems," said Byers.

The chamber executive said the San Francisco chamber is willing to assist Pacifica in efforts to attract industry when they became aware of what Pacifica is seeking.

D.C. Man Found Dead By Friend

A Daly City man was found dead in his living room by a friend yesterday, the apparent victim of an overdose of barbituates.

Cause of death of Murray M. Moss, 57, of 65 Eastmoor Avenue, was pending the outcome of a Coroner's autopsy, according to investigating officer Tom Barner.

Moss was found on a sofa in the living room of his home by Mrs. Carmela Fernandez.

The woman is a business acquaintance and friend of the victim and when she was unable to contact Moss by telephone after several attempts she decided to personally visit the home.

A Coroner's Office spokesman said Moss had been dead for several hours before his body was discovered. In the bathroom was an empty Tuillal tablet container.

Last week the victim had purchased some 30 of the tablets, police said.

The victim has two sons, one living in the Los Angeles area and the other in San Jose.

Assistant City Aide In San Bruno

San Bruno has come of age: Finally after many years of discussion the City Council agreed at its regular meeting Monday night to hire an assistant city manager planning director.

Until now, the Planning Commission had been using the services of a once-a-month planning consultant.

This new position will be exempt from civil service and will carry a salary of $1114 to $1353.

The person who fills this position will be responsible to act as advisor to the Planning Commission on all matters coming before them including zoning and use permits.

The director would serve as liaison between the city and civic groups seeking to make significant modifications of the character and development of any portion of the city.

He would assist City Manager Gerald Minford in salary negotiations and recruitment and selection of personnel.

A portion of the cost of the assistant city manager's salary would be absorbed by deleting the services of the consultant on a continuing basis. There will be an overlap in the beginning stages so that the cosultant will be available until the new director becomes familiar with San Bruno's problems and procedures.

Pacifica Image May Change

industry unless it meets stringent requirements," said Byers. "San Francisco actively seeks companies to come into the Bay Area. But we must have facts available."

According to Byers electronic-type firms from San Francisco International Airport south to Palo Alto are leaving those areas because of high costs of operation.

He said these firms are going to Livermore, Hayward and Santa Rosa areas. "Maybe this is the type of industry Pacifica is looking for," suggested Byers.

Byers also suggested that Pacifica attempt to highlight the asset of the Pacific Ocean, and develop another "Ports of Call."

"You can be selective," said Byers.

Pacifica Chamber executive Charles Trifeletti suggested that many pervious attempts to bring industry into Pacifica have failed because there had been no strong opposition from the public.

"If we're going to go in this direction (to seek industry) then this body (the chamber) has to set down what we want and then go to the (city) council and say 'this is it,' said Trifeletti.

"In Pacifica, we either have to go into the hills (for new development) or go into the older areas of the city and redevelop." A recent attempt to put a building moratorium on the Sharp Park western addition was met with strong public opposition.

Pacifica Chamber Task Force member Bob Rowell expressed optimism that this attempt would be different, "because the people realize that unless we bring in industry taxes will continue to climb."

Rowell suggested that the possibility of promoting the development of various undeveloped vacant lots throughout the city.

Also mentioned was the fact the soon to be phased-out United States Coast Guard site above the city might be an ideal spot for the city to acquire and promote as lands for light industrial purposes, or for such use as the main office of a life insurance company.

In previous meetings, the task force even prepared a sketch of a proposed industrial park, using available sites for the experiment.

New Subdivision Has Brief Life Expectancy

A residential subdivision with built-in shrinkage was approved Wednesday by the County Planning Commission.

Called Cypress Cliffs, the tract is located on a scenic promontory overlooking the ocean and the Fitzgerald Marine Reserve at Moss Beach.

The county planning staff calls it "one of the most beautiful parcels of land in the area" but notes a major problem: the cliff has been receding at an average rate of 1.6 feet a year.

If the rate continues—and nothing is to be done to stop it—the two houses to be built closest to the ocean will have a life expectancy of 50 to 75 years. Within 100 years nearly all of those lots and a portion of a third will have fallen into the ocean, along with most of the bulb of the Arbor Lane cul-de-sac that will be built to serve the 22 homes in the original subdivision.

First to go will be a parcel of about 30,000 square feet adjoining the ocean bluff that is being set aside by the subdivider, the Arbor Development Company, for a common open area that will be landscaped and maintained by an association of buyers of the homes.

According to a staff report, the erosion of the 35-foot vertical cliff is caused by wave and storm action. A seawall could be built to stop the erosion but the developer agreed to leave the cliff in its natural state upon the recommendation of county officials, who feared that construction of a seawall might damage the marine preserve and might prove to be an eyesore.

Thomas Gamboa of Palo Alto, representing the development company, agreed to 20 conditions upon which approval of the tentative subdivision map was made contingent.

Conditions include the soundproofing of the houses to shield them against the noise of airplanes using the Half Moon Bay Airport 4,000 feet to the south. It was also required that the owners grant "navigation" easements to the county so they will have no legal basis to complain if airplane noise proves to be a nuisance.

Another condition is that a double row of old, windblown cypress trees along Wienke Way, which forms one of the subdivision boundaries, will be saved. In addition, an appropriately rustic fence is to be built along the northern boundary where a county-owned trail leads from Wienke Way down to the beach and reefs.

Millbrae May Ask Minor Changes in Alpha Land Bid

Some minor changes may be made in the latest draft of the agreement being drawn up between Millbrae and Alpha Land Company, planning commissioners agreed last night.

Robert Lloyd, 1430 Murchison Drive, convinced the planners and City Attorney Frank Gillio, that it might be possible to add a word or two to the present draft, to more specifically defined responsibility for any possible future liability.

Lloyd said he was not opposing Alpha Land's proposed condominium project on top of the hill on which he lives, but that he has fought legal battles for ten years, over storm and slide damage.

The latest document, he said, seems not to spell out responsibility as well as it might.

Planners agreed to have Gillio make further changes in the draft, before the condominium plans come up for commission approval March 13.

The commission gave quick approval of a sign design for John Belvini, at 334 Broadway.

For various reasons, other items on the agenda were continued.

A Rally Set For Edwards In Daly City

A kickoff rally to recruit workers for the Jim Edwards School Board Campaign is planned for March 6, at 8 p.m. in the multi-use room at M. Pauline Brown School.

Edwards, who is campaigning on a strong management and common sense platform, will be on hand to speak with supporters.

According to Edwards' campaign manager, Ron Denman, "The need for community involvement in this election has never been greater."

He urges everyone to look into the issues and beyond that, to volunteer to help the candidate of their choice.

Monday's meeting has been coordinated by Bonnie Denman, who is prepared to hand out specific assignments and campaign materials to the more than 150 supporters who will be attending.

S.S.F. Drum Corps Party

An evening of fun, with games, prizes and refreshments is planned for Saturday, March 4, to benefit the Conquistadors' Drum and Bugle Corps.

Doors open at 7 p.m. at the South San Francisco Women's Club Hall, 470 Grand Ave., South San Francisco. Everyone is welcome.

Proceeds will help the Northern Peninsula's competitive drum and bugle corps obtain instruments.

The corps is currently expanding and preparing for the 1972 season of marching in parades and competitive shows. Now in its second year, the Conquistadors' corps has about 70 young people from this area.

John Shaw To Assist SSF's Noonan

South San Francisco City Attorney John Noonan has a new assistant.

He is John Shaw, 28, a former associate in the law practice of San Bruno Councilman Maurice Hamilton.

Shaw, who is an honor graduate from South San Francisco High School, the University of California at Berkeley and Hastings College of Law, is scheduled to go to work Wednesday.

Noonan said that he would at first be assigning minor duties to Shaw but that later he intends to "transfer a responsible load" to him.

It was felt by Noonan that Shaw should be quite familiar with the various procedures and agencies a city works with because of his previous association wit Hamilton.

Shaw graduated from South San Francisco High School in 1962. In 1966 he received a bachelor of arts degree in political science and was a member of the political science honor fraternity at Berkeley. He received a reserve commission of second lieutenant in the U.S. Army in 1969 and graduated from Hastings in 1970, before joining Hamilton.

Starting salary for Shaw, who is single, will be $1,078 a month.

DC Narcotics Raid Nets 5 Suspects

The San Mateo County Narcotics Unit raided a Daly City home last night and arrested five persons on charges of possession of narcotics and conspiracy.

Two ounces of heroin valued at more than $600 was seized in the raid, police said.

The raid by county agents was staged at 11 p.m. on a home at 59 Chelsea Court in the northeast section of the city.

Police said the arrests followed an alleged "buy" of one ounce of heroin by two special police officers.

Arrested were Sherman Lee Phillips, 20, 26 Topeka Street, San Francisco possession); Steven R. Spahn, 21, 317 Crestwood Drive, South San Francisco (possession and conspiracy); Stephen A. Pheman, 20, 108 Verona Drive, South San Francisco (possession and conspiracy); Jeffery Payne, 30, 5782 Kibler Road, Paradise, California (possession) and; Leanier Johnson, 21, occupant of the Chelsea Court house (possession and conspiracy).

Mills Pupil Wins Award

Paul J. Menchini, 18, a senior at Mills High School, today was named winner of a $1,000 scholarship awarded by the San Francisco Bay Area Engineering Council.

Menchini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aldo J. Menchini, 1285 Lasuen Ct., Millbrae, was presented the award at the Engineers' Week Banquet, held today at Goodman's on Jack London Square in Oakland.

The San Francisco Bay Area Engineering Council awards the college scholarships to deserving high school seniors who intend to major in engineering or one of the sciences.

Menchini plans to major in electronic engineering or physics at Stanford University.

While at Mills High, Menchini has taught basic electronics to fourth through sixth grade students and has participated in football, track and soccer.

BART Milestone in Daly City

THE LAST of the giant pre-cast concrete girders supporting the trainways at BART's Daly City Station were lifted into place today. Used to support all aerial stations and roadbeds, the 105-ton 63-foot girders are the last to be erected in the 75-mile system. The station's three trainways are supported by 27 of the girders. The last of BART's 34 stations to get underway, the Daly City terminus is 41 per cent complete, and scheduled to be finished early next year.

First Candidate Seeks Education Board Post

Granville M. DeMerritt, 47, of 318 Valencia Drive, South San Francisco, is the first candidate for the vacancy on the County Board of Education created by the resignation of Mrs. Virginia J. King.

DeMerritt, executive director of the 10,000-member Civil Service Association of San Francisco, obtained nomination papers Monday in the office of County Clerk-Recorder Marvin Church.

He has served as a member of the personnel commission of the county schools department since its formation in 1966 and has been chairman for two years.

His only previous attempt at election to public office was in 1960 when he was beaten by Leo J. Ryan, later to become a state assemblyman, in a close race for a seat on the South San Francisco City Council. He has been active in Democratic party affairs.

A 1950 graduate of Stanford University, where he majored in political science and public administration, DeMerritt worked for the San Francisco Civil Service Commission and in a federal government personnel job prior to his appointment to the top staff position with the Civil Service Association of San Francisco nearly 15 years ago.

DeMerritt and his wife, Alice, have two children, Linda, a January graduate of San Francisco State College, and Marty, 18, a 1971 graduate of South San Francisco High School who recently signed a bonus contract with the St. Louis Cardinals and is on his way to training camp in Florida. He is a pitcher.

Mrs. King, a 9-year member of the county board, resigned two weeks ago because of plans to move to Portland, Oregon.

Her successor will be elected to serve out the remainder of her term, which extends to June 30, 1973.

March 10 is the deadline for candidates to file nomination papers.

Members of the county board are elected at large but represent seven trustee areas.

MUCH IMITATED NEVER DUPLICATED

Patents run out. Copies are inevitable. Others have attempted to copy the Rolex pressure-proof Oyster case, the self-winding mechanism, the date feature, the day and date indicator, all innovations of Rolex. # When Sirens Split the Night

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The sirens that split the quiet night and wail away down the road to disappear in the darkness have become so much a part of American life that most people pay little heed to them.

Perhaps it is another automobile accident, a fire or some tipsy fellow returning home from a party that missed the top stair and found himself back on the sidewalk.

Any one of a thousand reasons has sent that ambulance and its trained crew speeding through the darkness on its mission of mercy.

In North San Mateo County the medics not only battle time in their effort to beat the Grim Reaper, but they have Mother Nature, with her fog and rain that frequently cloaks the Bay Area, to contend with.

Mercy and Peninsula Ambulance company owner Kevin McDonald has these words for his 38 employees:

"Get there as quickly as you can, but the important thing is to get there."

A wrecked ambulance is of little help to an injured or sick person waiting for aid, McDonald explains.

The combined companies owned and operated by former-policeman McDonald now boast eight up-to-date ambulances — one with the very latest in cardiac assist equipment.

The only trouble with the special equipment used to aid heart patients is there are only three hospitals equipped to receive information relayed from the ambulance.

And none of the three are in San Mateo County, McDonald said.

What is it like to sit around the ambulance station on Reiner Street in Broadmoor (100 yards from the Daly City boundary) and "sweat out" an emergency?

We decided to find out for ourselves.

Three two-man teams were on duty inside the building that houses a communications room-office, mess facilities for cooking, bedroom for the men and a lounge where the teams kill the hours by watching television.

The first call came in at 7:25 p.m.

A housewife thinking she heard someone break into her home while she was working on the second floor panicked and jumped through a bedroom window.

She suffered cuts from the window glass, a broken hip and broken arm. Police later could find no sign of anyone having broken into the house.

The ambulance crew responded quickly under a "code three" run, arriving about the same time as police and fire units. They loaded the victim into the ambulance and rushed her to nearby Mary's Help Hospital under "code two" orders.

(Code three is with red light and siren, while a code two is with only red lights, McDonald explained.)

The crews work 48 hours on and 48 hours off. Most are married, we learned. They prefer the shifts because it gives them more time with their families.

McDonald breaks up the two-man teams periodically. This prevents what he calls "cliques" and has proven to be the best method of working the men, he said.

McDonald drove the ambulance and our attendant was Tom Farrelly, a former U.S. Army medic when we went on the second run—two youngsters had swallowed an unknown quantity of dangerous drug pills.

At 51 years old McDonald sprinted up the stairs on one end of a gurney with all the vigor of his youthful assistant.

The gurney wasn't needed.

Instead, the two small children—ages 1 and 1½ years old—were carried in the arms of a babysitter to the waiting ambulance where they were taken to the hospital for observation and, if necessary, treatment.

On this occasion, McDonald's ambulance had arrived before police or fire units.

"You noticed we beat them here," McDonald winked.

He gets along with all safety services, he said.

"I have to. After all, I'm a police commissioner in Broadmoor and a former motorcycle cop."

The crews do not beat the other safety agencies to the scene of an emergency because they speed. In many cases they overhear the county dispatcher relaying messages for aid.

In 1954 McDonald left the San Francisco police force and went to work at San Francisco Emergency Hospital. He stayed there until 1960 when he and his wife, Irma, decided it was time to go into business for themselves. They bought a new 1960 Buick ambulance which only last month was sold.

Seven ambulances, three children and seven grandchildren later, McDonald has not slowed down. He is now trying out new style ambulances, new methods of assisting the sick and injured until he can deliver them into the capable hands of physicians.

He eventually wants his men to undergo the demanding new "Paramedical" training being offered.

This is the use of ambulance teams specially trained to administer medicines while at the scene of an accident or en route to a hospital under the radio guidance of a physician.

At present, ambulance attendants may only stop bleeding through use of pressure or administer prescribed drugs in the possession of a patient, such as nitroglycerine tablets for heart patients.

Medical knowledge is changing and McDonald said he is trying to change with it, to keep up with the very latest methods and equipment. His job is to get an injured person to the hospital as quickly and as safely as possible.

It was a slow night. Only two calls involving three persons. There had been much busier nights, Tom Farrelly recalled.

The company averages five calls a night—from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m.—McDonald informed us.

Two was enough for us.

Checking Patient

One of first things attendants do is check for "Medic Alert" or other medical emblems in case victim needs special care. Most such emblems are worn on wrist or neck.

The Fight Against Muscular Dystrophy

By MARY PISCHOFF

A small boy in a wheel chair said "IF I grow up I want to be a fireman." This youngster is one of the 200,000 persons throughout the world affected by the killer disease, muscular dystrophy. That poignant "IF" in his view of the future touched the hearts of those who heard him.

The plight of both children and adults is the reason the volunteers for muscular dystrophy give so unselfishly of their time to the local Muscular Dystrophy Association. The San Mateo County Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy consists entirely of volunteers.

Muscular dystrophy refers to a group of diseases distinguished by a non-contagious, progressive wasting of skeletal muscles on the outside of a body. Fat gradually replaces muscle fibers. It is now well established that in many instances it is an inherited characteristic coming from either parent. It's victims are more or less disabled by this disease; with males affected from five to six times as often as females.

Nearly one third of the known muscular dystrophy victims in the United States are children. Pain rarely accompanies muscular dystrophy in children, but the disease is usually fatal by the late teens.

San Mateo County provides one of the best orthopedic handicap school systems in the United States which accounts for the fact that there are 40 patients (37 males and 3 females) in the county as compared to 20 in San Francisco County.

Regardless of financial background and at no cost whatsoever to the patients or their families, the Muscular Dystrophy Association through it's San Mateo County Chapter provides: orthopedic equipment including wheelchairs at $400, hospital beds, crutches and braces; clinical and diagnostic services including follow up care and tests for relatives of patients because this is a genetic disease; and an expanding research program.

To make life easier and more enjoyable for the patients, additional services are: volunteer transportation to medical appointments and recreational activities; social services such as interviews, referrals and case work for patients and their families; and year 'round recreation with camperships and free passes to Marine World, Frontier Village and musical events.

EDITOR'S NOTE — Mary (Mrs. Darrell) Pischoff is a member of the Peninsula League whose March 18 "Hobo Happening" will provide funds for Muscular Dystrophy.

Hand made silk-screened invitations are in the mail to the League's friends and supporters. The evening includes cocktails and hors d'oeuvres and will take place in a South San Francisco warehouse.

Daly City Shed Issue Spills Over to Driveways

The issue that confronted Daly City councilmen Tuesday initially concerned a back yard tool shed but soon spilled over onto the sidewalk and into other residents' driveways.

Owner of the shed, Louis Maldonado, of 175 West Moltke Avenue, also found himself in apparent violation of three city codes—operating a business without a license, building a shed without a permit and creating a nuisance by blocking the public right-of-way with either his boat, trailer, or one of four vehicles.

Maldonado said he was doing business in San Francisco as a plumber and only used the shed for storage of a small quantity of plumbing parts.

And he told the council that he had found a place to park his boat in San Francisco.

Pressed by Councilman Louis J. Papan, Maldonado said the driveway blocking and other neighbor complaints were just a "misunderstanding."

Mrs. Yolanda Piccardo, a neighbor residing at 185 West Moltke, said the sidewalk "is often blocked" as a result of Maldonado unloading his trucks.

He also parks his trucks so they block her driveways, she said.

Two other neighborhood residents likewise complained.

Asked by Papan where his business was located, Maldonado said San Francisco.

However, listings in the Telephone Company's Yellow Pages indicate Maldonado's business is at the Moltke Street address, Papan noted.

John Massen, the city's finance director, pointed out that Maldonado did not have a city business license for his Advance Plumbing Company.

Maldonado uses an answering service and is in business with his son, the council was informed.

Councilman Tony Giamonna said he would like to see the bickering stop and he asked Maldonado to attempt to "get along with your neighbors."

The matter was postponed for two weeks while police and other city departments investigate the issue.

Asked for assurances that he would try to patch things up with his neighbors, Maldonado informed Mayor Lycett that the skirmishing had been going on "for more than ten years" and it was not likely it could be remedied in two weeks.

D.C. School Demographic Survey Set

An appeal has gone out to all Parent-Teacher groups in Daly City seeking volunteers to aid in a demographic survey of the Jefferson Elementary School District soon to get under way.

The survey is designed to give school officials a better idea of the ethnic makeup of the community and student balance at the district's 21 elementary schools.

It will also aid in realigning boundries and reveal the current and future status of the Savage School site in St. Francis Heights — a site that has sat vacant for the past six years.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood said some 18,000 homes will be involved in the city-wide survey.

Hopefully the district, through the P-TA, will be able to get the necessary 720-900 canvassers to carry out the survey, Greenwood said.

Those chosen for the project will undergo three hours of training and will then participate in the nine hour canvassing job, it was understood.

If an all-volunteer army of parents can carry off the survey it will cost the school district a mere $3,500.

S.S.F. Family Is Burned Out

A South San Francisco family of 11, including grandparents, spent Feb. 22 in a Daly City motel — courtesy of the Red Cross.

The reason for the temporary abode is because the home of Donaciano Ibarra, 451 Baden Avenue, went up in flames.

Firemen said damage to the structure was $7,500 with $2,000 damage to the contents. But it was enough to place Ibarra, his wife Juanita, their children, and grandchildren without a shelter.

Red Cross representative Wally Reed in San Francisco said the family was placed in the Mission Bell Motel, 6843 Mission Street, Daly City. "It required two units," said Reed.

The Red Cross was contacted by South San Francisco fire officials after it was obvious the family would be without a home.

Reed said the initial concern is to provide a temporary shelter. "Frequently, a family is okay the first night. But then the next day they realize they need clothing and other items," said Reed.

He said that in the case of Ibarra and his family the Red Cross also supplied groceries. "I have a notation here that they'll probably need bedding once they find a temporary home until theirs is fixed," he said.

According to Reed, the Red Cross will pick up the tab for up to a month in a motel. "Usually it takes two or three days, maybe a week for people to get their bearings," he said.

Reed admitted that with a family that large there is going to be a problem relocating them until their home is back in repair.

The fire department was called to the residence at 12:55 p.m. and stayed four hours to clean up.

Assistant Fire Chief Al Brauns said the fire is believed to have been started by a three-year-old grandson of Ibarra playing with matches.

"When we arrived flames were coming out the front of the house mainly," said Brauns. "It started in the living room."

Brauns complimented Archie Fregosi, operator of a nearby grocery store, with getting the three-year-old and his grandmother out of the burning building.

A next-door house, 453 Baden, sustained $300 damage to the roof as a result of the blaze, according to Brauns.

Road Project Is Approved

The green light has been given by South San Francisco officials to a $140,000 road improvement project of Airport Boulevard from Second Lane to Miller Avenue.

The preliminary estimate of cost, according to Lou Goss, director of public works, is that the street work and landscaping will run about $79,000.

In additon, the signalization of the Airport-Grand and Airport-Baden intersections will cost approximately $61,000.

Goss said $62,000 is available to the city in TOPICS funds, but application must be made as soon as possible.

Other financing, according to Goss, will be $40,000 from gas tax monies and $38,000 from beautification funds.

Capitol March Planned

Supporters of the Laguna Salada Union School District in Pacifica are planning another march on Sacramento.

More than 1,000 advocates of better financing for low-wealth school districts like the one on the county's Coastside will converge on the state capitol March 21.

Supt. James R. Brien and members of the school board are supporting the plans for active community members to "make a show of force at the capitol."

Plans call for a car and bus caravan in the morning from Pacifica, pre-arranged meetings with assemblymen and senators, and a noon rally to be held on the west steps of the capitol.

Already agreed to participation at the rally are Senator Arlen Gregorio, and Assemblymen Dixon Arnett and Leo Ryan. A member of State Supt. of Schools Riles' office will also appear.

In 1969, a march to Sacramento was held by the community members of this elementary school district.

A second march is planned, since the 1969 trek, more than any single event, brought to the attention of the legislature and the general public the plight of the low-wealth school districts.

Assemblyman Ryan has indicated that at least two pieces of legislation that benefitted Laguna Salada could be attributed to the earlier march.

In reference to a recent Supreme Court decision, which determined local property taxes were improper for school financing, Ryan suggested that Laguna Salada "go to Sacramento and demand your money."

It is expected that representatives from more than 30 other low-wealth school districts will participate in the March 21 event.

For children in the Laguna Salada School District (9,000 in 15 elementary schools), it will be a school holiday, and they, as well as their parents, will all be encouraged to make the trek to Sacramento.

According to local leaders, it has become known that wealthy school districts are organizing a task force to fight the Supreme Court decision — Serrano vs. Priest.

As low-wealth districts, such as Laguna Salada, cannot afford monies for court actions, the only effective means of influence is through direct confrontation with legislators.

Possession

Daly City police Saturday arrested George R. McCrum Jr., 19, of 646 San Diego Avenue, Daly City, on charges of possession of stolen property.

Officer Ed Welsh said he stopped McCrum in the city for driving a motorcycle without a vehicle license.

Identified

The body of a man found in a parked car Feb. 22 by Daly City Police Officer Ken Cole has been identified as William Roay, 44, of 1067 Hanover.

Police said the victim, an apparent suicide, has been shot in the chest. A .30 caliber rifle was found at his side, police said.

Mayors Ask State Funds

The San Mateo County Council of Mayors went — unanimously — on record Friday as favoring immediate state funding of a bypass of Devil's Slide on Coast Highway One.

The mayors, meeting in Pacifica, reacted to a request of Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald that any delay by local officials could result in a delay of state funds for the project.

Fitzgerald claimed the present Devil's Slide portion of Cabrillo Highway has dropped 14-feet in a "mild winter."

"Fortunately," he said, "it hasn't dropped out."

The mayors' resolution will be submitted to the board of supervisors Tuesday, which is expected to take similar action.

Three-Year Delay Seen On Devil's Slide Route

Warning that construction of the Devil's Slide bypass could be delayed by three years or more, County Engineer S.H. Cantwell Jr. has recommended against asking the state to reopen hearings on the project.

The recommendation is part of a report prepared for presentation to the County Board of Supervisors next Tuesday.

The request for reopening came from a group of Coastside citizens who contend that the adopted alignment would be too disruptive and cause too much damage to the environment. The group, backed by the Sierra Club, have threatened to seek a court injunction against the project unless the state files an environmental impact report first.

Last Tuesday members of the board indicated they would act on the citizen request after receiving a report from Cantwell. One member, James V. Fitzgerald, said he would vote against the request.

"I don't want the board to change its position and jeopardize building that road," he said then. "That project has been our number one priority and we should go on record urging immediate funding."

Division of Highways officials have acknowledged that there has been some difficulty with funding the project, due to a shortage of federal funds coming into the state, and say that it may be necessary to reduce the scope of the first phase or to delay the start of construction until 1973.

Planned is a 6.4-mile realignment of Cabrillo Highway into the hills above Devil's Slide, bypassing the treacherous stretch of highway on which there have been many deaths and which is closed by earth slides nearly every winter. Most of the right of way, costing $8.4 million, has been acquired. Construction costs are expected to exceed $16 million.

Although the bypass is planned as basically a two-lane highway, it will have four lanes for most of its length. The extra lanes are for slow-moving trucks as they climb and descend steep grades.

In his report Cantwell noted that planning of the bypass has been going on since 1958 and that the alignment was adopted by the state and the county in 1960.

"Any rerouting would require further public hearings and would delay construction by at least three years," Cantwell said. "This would appear to be in direct conflict with what San Mateo County has been urging the state to do for the past several years.

"Keeping in mind that construction will require two to three years in itself, any deferment in initiating the project could result in serious consequences to the Coastside since Devil's Slide presents a continuous potential hazard."

St. Clair for 'Fair Trade' Law Repeal

A bill to repeal so-called "fair trade" liquor laws in California has the unqualified blessing of Robert St. Clair, a San Mateo County supervisor and owner of a package liquor store in San Francisco.

St. Clair, who has been accused by the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Department of three counts of selling liquor below minimum posted prices and faces a possible fine, said the proposed bill "hits it right on the head."

The bill was introduced in Sacramento Thursday by Senator Alan Short (D., Stockton), who charged that the state-enforced price minimums bring at least $100 million a year in "excess profits" to the liquor industry.

The established procedure calls for distillers to list minimum prices that are to be charged for their products with the ABC. The department maintains a force of agents to watch for violations.

"I don't think our state-paid liquor agents should be running around seeing that prices are kept artificially high at the whim of the industry," Short said. "The agents should be spending their time getting obviously drunk people out of bars, preventing sales to minors, and keeping bars from watering booze and changing brands in bottles.

"Price fixing is nothing but a bonanza for the liquor industry, and the state pays to enforce the prices. It's ridiculous."

Short said he felt certain that, with enactment of his bill, consumer prices would be forced down to "more reasonable levels."

"He said exactly what I've been saying," St. Clair remarked. "I hope the Legislature recognizes the problem and does something about it."

Pacifica Inservice School Day

Laguna Salada Elementary School District Trustees Thursday night proclaimed March 21 Legislative Inservice Day.

It will be a holiday for students, but a work day for employes, either by participating in the planned march to Sacramento or by workingin the district.

Superintendent James Brien said the district has received a $200 donation from the Laguna Salada Education Association to buy bumper stickers, signs and balloons which will be imprinted with the words "Equalize Educational Opportunity") for the Sacramento trip.

More than 1,000 supporters for better financing for low wealth school districts are expected to converge on the state capitol.

Brien explained the problem of school financing Thursday night by comparing the Laguna Salada School District with the district in Menlo Park.

He said the Pacifica district has a $70 million assessed valuation with 8,900 children. The Menlo Park district with $87 million assessed valuation not really significantly greater than Pacifica) has only 1,270 children in the schools.

However, according to the present school financing structure, the Menlo Park district is seven times as wealthy per child as is the Pacifica district.

Hospital Strike Ends on Coast

The union workers at the Linda Mar Convalescent Hospital in Pacifica were back on the job Saturday, ending a two-week strike.

According to David Watkins, business representative of Hospital Workers Union Local 250, the membership ratified "with an overwhelming majority" the final proposal.

Picket lines were removed from the hospital Wednesday night.

The union, and hospital owner Nick Gust, agreed to a five per cent salary increase, one extra day (birthday) a year off, six more sick leave days (giving 12 a year accumulative to 30) and an increased vacation of up to three weeks after five years service.

Regarding the hang-up of five employes who walked off the job prior to strike sanction it was agreed that three (who only had about half an hour left on their shifts) would be re-hired. One was given a 30-day suspension and the fifth will submit a resignation. Watkins said she has been planning to leave.

Gust said he does not intend to drop a suit on file against the union employes for picketing his restaurants in Rockaway Beach as part of strike activities at the hospital.

"I feel it (picketing his restaurants) was unlawful and unauthorized. They had no right to picket. The hospital was one issue. The wildcat activities at the restaurant was unjustified," said Gust.

He said he has never had a labor problem that couldn't be solved by sitting down and talking. And according to Gust talk was progressing in the hospital matter.

"I have never refused to negotiate. I told them I could not discuss salary increases until I knew what the fringe benefits were going to cost me," said Gust.

Watkins said he had no further comment on the matter.

Firemen Contain Two Fires

South San Francisco firemen responded to two relatively minor fires Wednesday that could have had disasterous potential, according to Assistant Fire Chief Al Brauns.

The first was at 4:31 p.m. at 849 W. Orange, where an electric blanket was placed in a closet over the vents of heat ducts.

Brauns said the occupant was out and "it was lucky someone saw the fire." He said the blaze traveled horizontally through the structure necessitating the firemen to "open several places."

Structural damage was estimated at $3,000 and damage to contents at $500.

In the second incident, at 8:05 p.m., the department responded to a call at the Treasure Island Trailer Court.

Brauns said a butane refrigerator belonging to Bernard Jagdman had set the wall of the trailer on fire. "He was lucky he didn't lose the thing," said Brauns.

Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Massage Parlor Shut Down

The House of Sweden, health spa and massage parlor at 614 San Mateo Avenue, San Bruno, is closed temporarily.

Its owner-operator, Loretta Ann Warto (known to her customers as Bridget) has been arrested on charges of keeping a disorderly house and lewd or dissolute conduct.

Police said the masseuse was arrested about noon yesterday following an intensive investigation by the detective division. Bail of $380 was posted by a bail bondsman.

According to police the business has been in operation since December 17, 1971, with daily (except Sunday) operations. Police said records indicate about 450 male customers over a period of 55 days paid out approximately $6,585 for services.

Blast Permit Authorized

A 30-day blasting permit has been authorized by South San Francisco councilmen for the Healy Tibbits Construction Company. Blasting will be done between 5 p.m. and 5.30 p.m.

The permit allows blasting of rock that is preventing the construction of proposed waste water piping at the Merck Chemical Company plant.

Blasting operations will be conducted by the firm of C. A. Magistretti. Approximately 50 holes will be blasted during the 30-day period.

Lithuania Group Meets

The annual meeting of the Lithuanian American Community Inc. of the San Francisco Bay Area took place Sunday at the College of San Mateo, Gallery Room. The Lithuanian Americans living in the Bay Area gathered to view an art exhibit presented by J. Sodaitis, a Lithuanian graphic from New York whose best exhibits were immediately sold out.

The main speaker for the annual meeting was J. Kojelis from Los Angeles — editor of a Lithuanian language magazine "Toward Freedom.." Greetings to the Lithuanian community were also extended by Dr. Anderson, Professor of History at San Jose State College and the president-elect of the Association for the advancement of Baltic Studies. V. J. Sliupas of Burlingame, the president of the Lithuanian American Community for 1971, chaired the meeting, together with Mrs. Ruta Narakas of San Francisco, supervised the election of new officers for 1972. Dr. A. Kudirka of San Jose was elected the community's new president. Other elected members of the committee are: Mrs. Irna Grenier of Mill Valley, Mrs. Aldona Gaigalas of Lafayette, Mr. Romas Ankaitis of Concord and J. Sidas of Oakland.

2 Robbed In Daly City

Wallets were taken from two persons during an armed robbery yesterday at the Hi-Fi Stereo Center, 1805 Junipero Serra Boulevard, Daly City.

Police said three men entered the store at about 11:40 p.m., one carrying a rifle. In addition to the wallets, they took stereo equipment and a .38-caliber revolver, police said.

Police said the suspects fled in a white van that had the word "Rental" printed on the side. All were described as being in their 20's. One had on a green beanie and another sported a goatee, police said.

Developer Files Own Suit

Thomas J. Callan Jr., who was sued by his older brother, Michael C. Callan, recently and accused of misconduct in the dissolution of their partnership, has filed his own suit in Superior Court denying the allegation and seeking a total of $2,850,000 in damages, costs and expenses.

The Callans, developers of several major subdivisions in San Mateo County, are the sons of Thomas J. Callan of Colma, a former longtime county supervisor.

The falling out between the two sons was revealed last December when Michael filed suit against Thomas Jr., charging that in the dissolution of their partnership the younger brother accepted and recorded "short deed" of undeveloped property, although he was not supposed to do so until certain conditions had been drawn and signed.

In his cross-complaint, filed yesterday, Thomas Jr. seeks a declaration from the court determining validity of an agreement made a year ago between the brothers in which Thomas accepted the "short deed" and Michael the "long deed" (of developed property) in "full satisfaction and discharge of any claims" of one against the other.

The younger brother also asks that the court declare him and his wife, Gladys Ann, named a co-defendant in the original suit, owners of an individed half-interest in the property listed on the "long deed."

Named cross-defendants with Michael Callan and his wife, Lorraine, in the cross-complaint filed by attorney Charles E. Chase, are the American Land Exchange and Transamerica Title Insurance Company.

'Short Haul' Cab Service Is Promised

The San Francisco Yellow Cab Company has agreed to provide "short haul" cab service to Peninsula communities from San Francisco International Airport.

San Mateo County Manager M. D. Tarshes has said he has been informed by the office of James K. Carr, airport manager, that an agreement is in the process of being worked out whereby Yellow Cab Company will carry passengers from the airport to nearby cities.

It has been charged that the franchised cab drivers have illegally refused to take passengers on short hauls from the airport to nearby areas, preferring to wait for more lucrative trips to San Francisco.

The situation has resulted in a situation whereby cab drivers unauthorized to do business at the airport have been picking up fares for trips to areas where the Yellow Cab drivers assertedly have declined to provide service.

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors last week voted to request a meeting with San Francisco officials to discuss the situation, urging at the time that no immediate action be taken by San Francisco on proposed legislation which would make it a misdemeanor for unauthorized cabs to do business at the airport.

Today's report by Tarshes appears to be a favorable solution to the matter.

Tarshes said that Carr's office informed him that written confirmation of the "short haul" service will be forwarded to him as soon as details of the agreement are worked out.

5 Guilty in Bookie Case

A Daly City man was included among five men who were convicted in the U.S. District Court in San Francisco recently on bookmaking charges.

Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli who conducted the trial which ended with five convictions and one acquittal set April 14 at 1:30 p.m. for sentencing the ten guilty men.

Five had pleaded guilty earlier. Convicted yesterday from Daly City was Ronald Celle, 42, 75A Bellevue Street. Pleading guilty earlier was Ronald E. Dean, 34 of 197 Alta Vista, Daly City and four others from San Francisco.

Two San Bruno men, Hiroshi Hirashima, 46, 2491 Rosewood Drive and Louis P. Salanitro, 42, 761 Santo Lucio Avenue and a San Mateo man, Martin Cheifitz, 45, 3413 Branson Drive were cleared of complicity.

The convictions involved a $10,000,000 a year bookie operation.

Forgery Plea: Not Guilty

Charles Sobiek, South San Francisco, pleaded not guilty to a charge of forgery in Superior Court Wednesday after four counts of grand theft in a Grand Jury indictment were dismissed by Judge W. Howard Hartley.

Sobiek originally was charged with diverting funds from a neighborhood investment club he helped organize to his own use.

His attorney, James Dennis of Redwood City, contended that as a partner in the club the defendant couldn't be held criminally liable for, in effect, stealing from himself and that the remedy for other club members is through civil action.

The attorney reported out of court that funds used by Sobiek were repaid the club more than two years ago when he turned over apartment buildings held by the Empire Investment Club to the members. He later was indicted by the Grand Jury on four counts of grand theft and one count of forgery.

Police Station Contract Set

A low bid of $13,947 by the M&H Construction Company won the contract for the remodeling of South San Francisco's police building front office.

Work will include minor renovation of the office to improve the security of the personnel, especially those on night duty.

A Markling & Yamasaki (the architectural firm doing the design work) representative said the bidding was proper.

Assemblyman Ryan Disputes Airport Cab Service Claims

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan has taken "strong exception" to comments made by Jim Strachan, secretary-treasurer of the Chauffeurs' Union Local 265, in a letter to Assemblyman John Burton concerning the cab situation at International Airport.

Strachan, in his February 11 letter to Burton, noted that the cab issue, while it could be improved, "is not as poor as some politicians and cab operators would have you believe."

The key to better service at the airport for so-called "short haul" passengers (that is, those persons desiring to ride to points near the airport) is strict enforcement of the cab company's exclusive franchise, Strachan said.

Burton is chairman of the Assembly Committee on Rules.

Recently, Ryan brought up the subject of complaints concerning poor service by the Yellow Cab Company of San Francisco — holder of the airport cab franchise.

The main points of Strachan's letter that Ryan disagreed with are events leading up to the current situation.

Strachan informed Burton that there were no unauthorized cab operations at the airport in 1964 when the Barrett company held the cab franchise; that unauthorized cabs began operating at an increased level as airport police became lax in citing other than franchised cabs after Barrett relinquished its cab operations and Yellow took over, and; the situation was not as bad as some officials made it out to be.

Ryan's letter of February 17 disagreed with Strachan on several points and said he was prepared to bring forward witnesses "who will testify under oath" regarding the matter of cab operations at the airport past and present.

Strachan's statement that "there were no other cabs picking up at the airport," prior to December 1964 was disputed by Ryan.

"This is flatly not true," Ryan wrote. "While it is generally true that the amount of (unauthorized cabs) was at a low level, (they) have always existed."

And the assemblyman also disagreed with the union official regarding his statement, that no short hauls were refused. Those drivers who might refuse to convey a passenger were cited by airport police and penalized by the company, Strachan wrote.

"The union's attitude did not conflict with the company's policy at this time," Strachan said.

But Ryan said he could produce witnesses who would state under oath that during The period Strachan referred to in his letter "few citations were issued in comparison to the estimated actual number of refusals to passengers during that period of time."

Ryan said the cab situation at the airport "is totally chaos today," adding, "this is simply another one of the instances where a policy is developed in San Francisco . . . having a negative and unsatisfactory effect upon the people of San Mateo County.

"We are tired of this kind of subordinate and insensitive role and believe we have a right to the quality of service which San Franciscans have," Ryan concluded.

Named To ABAG Committee

Three San Mateo County citizens were elected last week to represent the half-million people of this county on a 27-member committee to advise the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The fact that ABAG, as it is usually known, has little official power itself, raised the question of just what these three are to do.

John Lewis of Pacifica, Fred Howell of San Mateo, and Joyce Reese of Menlo Park, are the chosen citizen representatives to ABAG.

John Drey of South San Francisco, Mrs. Willard Schoenfeld of San Mateo, and Allan Hoskings of the Skylonda area, were chosen as alternates.

As explained during the meeting at Burlingame City Hall, they are to take part in a citizens's "Task Force" which is to create an 84-member citizen's forum through which the public may speak to ABAG.

Ira Hall, chairman of the meeting, said the forum is being created because ABAG has been criticized as representing only the elected officialdom of its 81 member cities and 8 member counties in the nine-county Bay Area.

Some 48 people attended last night's meeting, and all were allowed to vote except those who were elected or appointed officials of city, county or state.

Since those who were present included a number of people serving on various city and county boards and committees, several exceptions to the rule, were voted approval. In the end, even Municipal Judge William Lanam was allowed to vote. San Mateo School Board member Dr. Joseph Craig did not vote, since he claimed status as a "state" official.

Women's Libber Addresses Students at Terra Nova

Pat Ostovar, a speaker for Women's Lib, addressed a large gathering of Terra Novans in the cafeteria on February 9.

She is a Pacifican and a member of the National Organization for Women, talked about the ideas behind the Women's Liberation Movement and what her organization seeks to achieve for women.

The three basic goals that N.O.W. has set are:

1. Full legal equality for women (for 23 years women have worked to have Congress pass an amendment declaring them equal by law to men.)

2. Full sexual equality for women (N.O.W. wants men to practice birth control with them and abortion laws to be abolished, providing women the right to bear children only when they want them.)

3. N.O.W. feels that each community should accept the responsibility of children who do not have proper care, i.e., set up Child Care facilities.

Mrs. Ostovar, the mother of four children, said she believed that the concept of marriage should change. It should be a sharing of responsibilities, thus lessening the strain on both parents.

She also objected to women being used as sex symbols. She does not approve of beauty pageants, because women are paraded up and down for the benefit of the males.

She also said that the National Organization for Women is not restricted only to women's problems. The women's libber stated that men are also discriminated against, concluding that, "Women's Liberation means Human Liberation."

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

The nation's most prominent cooking contest, the Pillsbury Bake-off will take place on February 29th in Houston, Texas. I will be notified of the winners, but since this column is written about a week ahead, next week's column will feature some of the winning recipes.

Meantime, I'd like to share this recipe which was in the finals in last year's Bake-off. This is an easy way to prepare a delicious and attractive treat for morning coffee, afternoon tea or just anytime. It's simple to make, using canned buttermilk or country style biscuits with a rich brown sugar and nut topping.

CARAMEL BUBBLE RING

¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
½ cup chopped pecans or walnuts
1-3 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons water
2 cans (8-oz. each) refrigerated buttermilk or country style biscuits

Oven 400 degrees; 1 large ring, 8 to 10 servings.

Generously grease 9 or 10-inch Bundt or 9-inch tube pan.

In medium saucepan, combine the three-fourths cup brown sugar, half cup chopped nuts, one-third cup butter and two tablespoons water. Stir over low heat until butter melts; set aside.

Separate the two cans of dough into 20 biscuits. Cut each into quarters. Stir biscuit quarters into sugar mixture until all pieces are well coated.

Spread into prepared pan. (If using tube pan with removeable bottom, place on foil or cookie sheet during baking to guard against leakage.) Bake at 400-degrees for 20 to 30 minutes until golden brown. Let stand 3 minutes; invert pan to remove ring.

To serve; pull apart. Serv warm.

TIPS: Reheat, loosely wrapped in foil, at 400 degrees 10 to 12 minutes until warm.

To make ahead, prepare, cover and refrigerate up to 2 hours before baking. Bake as directed.

Since we are thinking about using biscuits in cooking, this Cheeseburger Casserole uses them to a tasty advantage. As you can see, it also uses our favorite ingredient, "one pound ground beef" plus other goodies to make an attractive and inexpensive casserole.

CHEESEBURGER CASSEROLE

1 pound ground beef
¼ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup chopped onion
8 ounce can tomato sauce
¼ cup catsup
⅛ teaspoon pepper
6 slices American cheese, about 6 ounces
1 can refrigerated country style or buttermilk biscuits

Oven 400 degrees. Four to six servings.

Brown the pound ground beef with the fourth cup each green pepper and onion in skillet. Drain off fat. Add the eight ounces tomato sauce, one fourth cup catsup and one-eighth teaspoon pepper; heat.

In a one and one-half quart casserole, alternate the meat mixture with the six slices cheese, beginning and ending with meat.

Arrange biscuits around edge of casserole. Bake in 400-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes, until golden brown.

It looks like there's a small space left at the bottom of the column. Fortunately, I have a small recipe to just fill that space.

ZUCCHINI TREAT

6 zucchini
1 can whole kernel corn
2 large tomatoes

Wash and cut zucchini into small pieces. Add the can whole kernel corn and two tomatoes cut in wedges. Cook over low heat until zucchini is tender. Add butter, salt and pepper to taste.

MRS. FRAN KLORETTA, chairman, and her committee members are making final plans fot the Hillside Homeowners Improvement Association's installation dinner-dance March 11 at the Italian American Social Club in San Francisco. Mrs. Shields is an active P-TA chairman, a church and youth group worker. Mrs. Schott is past president of the Edison P-TA and has been active in Ben Franklin and Westmoor P-TA's as well. She is active in the Mary's Help Hospital women's volunteer group.

Seniors Plan Graduation Trip; Kennel Club Sets Show

Once again the senior class from Westmoor High School is preparing for one of their major activities, Disneyland Grad Night excursion.

Leaving on June 9 at 8 p.m. seniors and guests will wing their way to Los Angeles International Airport via PSA, then head off to Disneyland where they will join hundreds of other graduating high school students from all over California.

"The "72" grads will enjoy all the rides and exhibits plus a dance featuring famous rock bands. The event will go into the night and early morning before students will return to the airport and be home at noon the following day.

Payments are taken every Wednesday with the trips cost totaling $50.

THE WESTMOOR Kennel Club is well on its way with over 100 entries to its first all-breed, all-age fun match scheduled for March 11.

Judging at the match will be gin at 10 a.m.

The entry fee is $3.50, part of which goes towards a scholarship fund for a graduating senior in the field of animal study. Entries close March 1.

There will be no entries accepted the day of the match. Over 500 entries are expected before the competition begins.

Checks may be made payable to Westmoor High School Kennel Club and mailed to John Milton at the high school.

THE LATIN CLUB is now open for any interested students.

The club meets every Wednesday after school.

Presiding officers are Loraine Pope, president; Janet Behlow, vice president; Debbie Swain, treasurer, and Cindy Rogers, secretary.

The club has such activities as a candy sale and a meeting with the soccer team, as the majority of the students on the team are Spanish speaking.

THE SPOTLIGHT will be on Westmoor's dramatists February 29 when tryouts will be held for "You Can't Take It With You."

This famous comedy written by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart has been performed repeatedly by amateur groups, stock companies and high schools all over the United States.

After the successful fall production of "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown," Kenneth Brown decided to present this Pulitzer Prize winning comedy during the first week in May.

Recently seen admiring the various exhibits and works of art at the Oakland Museum were Westmoor High School students from Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zimmerman's art and English classes.

Leaving Westmoor at 9 a.m., the group spent the morning at Jack London Square where they leisurely walked around and ate lunch while viewing some of the famous author's old haunts such as the "First and Last Chance."

At 11:30, the group was back at the museum where they had a lectured tour in small groups on the original pieces of art, including genuine Currier and Ives drawings. All art featured at the museum was done by artists who spent time painting in California.

Free time was then given to the students to view the other departments of the museum, such as the history, biological and natural sections.

Senior Peter Seagrave was selected by Westmoor High School's principal and staff to represent the school in the Gemco Charitable and Scholarship Foundation Speech Tournament.

The contest will give Seagrave a chance to win a $250 to $1000 scholarship toward the college of his choice.

This year's subject will be "Economic Principles of the American Free Enterprise System." All contestants know the subject now but will not be given the individual topic on the subject until about 15 minutes before the contest begins.

The contest will be in a group form starting with all entrants at first in one group and then split into separate groups. Each separate group will still discuss the main topic, after which judges will talk individually to each contestant and select those for the finals.

All who do not win will receive a $25 Savings Bond.

It's that time at Westmoor High School again to sign up all the sophomores, juniors and incoming freshmen for next year's programming.

Counselors have been rushing around the school to explain to the students the scheduling procedure.

Pre-registration is a must because all programs have to be sent to I.B.M. so a master schedule may be made out. This will determine what classes will be taught when and what teaches will teach the various periods.

The counselors must also explain to the students that if they sign up for a semester course, there is a chance their entire schedule may be rearranged.

New classes have been offered and are listed in a class description book, which summarizes what will be taught and what subjects will be covered in the class. This book is not available but the counselors do have a copy.

The new arena system was made possible because of a lot of extra time and planning on the part of Pablo Perez, vice principal

STUDENTS AND FACULTY of Westmoor High School recently witnessed a most unique experience in today's world, that of a man thanking the United States.

Ben Soong, a teacher and youth worker from Korea, along with four Korean teenage girls from Chungahin High School, has been touring high schools along the west coast for the past three months.

The purpose of his tour has been to thank the United States for the help it has given to him and his people over the years.

The Jeff Scene

By SUE MCALLISTER

The Jefferson Black Students' Cultural Organization is led by President Charles Sherman and Vice President Brenda Williams.

The organization, begun in November of 1971 by Sherman and Franklin Stevens, has set its goal:

To help Black students find goals, pride, and dignity in Jefferson and their everyday life.

A choir has been organized by the club and the club is also planning a talent show for April 7.

Ike McClanahan is the advisor.

Jeff held its spring class officer elections recently.

Senior class president is Barbara Verniest; secretary, Theresa Magness; treasurer, Sunny Chong.

Freshman class, president, Mike Budd; Vice president, Patty Montes; secretary Joann Celestino; treasurer, Vicky Valiente.

Jeff now has its own career center for anyone that would like to inquire about all types of occupations and careers. In the room there are pamphlets, movies and other reading materials which orientate the student to any career he is interested in. The facilities of the room are not limited to any grade level.

The juniors of the E.S.E.A. program solved an ecological problem last Christmas when they bought a three-foot live tree. The students decorated the small tree, then planted it on the Jeff campus.

An exchange took place between students from Westmoor and Jeff. Mrs. Judy Mongan of Westmoor (ex-Jeff teacher) and Dave Peelbes trades 10 students for a short period of time to destroy misconceptions the students had about each other's school and student body.

DC Cub Pack Gets Charter, Eats Chicken

Cub Pack 724 held it's annual "Blue and Gold" dinner at Westlake Lutheran Church on February 24.

After a fried chicken dinner, Serra District Commissioner Jim McCaulley and Larry Clark of the Boy Scouts of America presented the Rev. Thomas Unmacht, pastor, with the current pack charter.

The boys in attendance, Bobby Aquino, Tony and Robert Carion, Ray Dolph, Andy Fossum, Norm Geime, Gregg Hardin, Sammy Hull, Mike Piccolotti, Tommy Reyes, Gary Rigoni, Roy Thorson, Mike Venezio, Gary Weeck, Leroy and Victor Woodlief, and Tommy Zupfer, were presented with current membership cards by Cubmaster Len Geimer.

Parent membership cards were presented by Committee Chairman Alexander Thorson.

The highlight of the meeting was the auction of the father-son decorated cake by former Cubmaster Ned Hardin.

'Spring' Theme For Luncheon, Fashion Show

Fashions will be presented by William Silva of Ghiradelli Square.

This is one of the main Ignatian Guild fund-raising events and all proceeds will benefit the school building fund.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. James Raggio 731-5849) or Mrs. Richard Reynold (566-9474).

Style Show Set

Terra Nova Topics

By ROCKIE MONTENEGRO

(Editors Note: Rockie Motenegro is attending the Model UN in Berkeley this week. Her guest columnist is freshman journalism student Ron Morones.)

Some of us at one time have had thoughts of what we would like to be when we are grown-up, but have you ever decided to take a test to see what you are best suited for? Many people have, and to their surprise, they have found out things that have completely stunned them.

At the Career Guidance Center, which is located in the rear of the Terra Nova Library, is a test that they call Job-O, which is designed to help you decide which job it is that you would like to look into. Many students have tried this test and the results haven't always been what one might expect. One girl went in with high hopes to come out with the results of an accountant but what she came out with was an aptitude to be a mortician. A teacher went in with no particular hopes, and came out with the suitable qualities of an aircraft maintenance manager, which completely stunned her. Another girl went in and came out with the rating of a TV repairman. To top everything, a boy went in who wanted to work for an airlines, or to be an engineer, or work in construction, but his results he disliked intensely. Two of his three matches were to be a nurse, and his third was a private secretary.

We feel that taking this test, unless you are completely honest when answering the questions, will not prove effective, and really is useless, although fun and interest to take.

Squaring Away A New Rumor

YOU MIGHT JUST as well read it here before the word gets around and the story is all twisted. This is an election year and there seems to be nothing better for some people to do than sling muck rather than facts.

We have checked and rechecked this story and here are the absolute facts. We believe them!

Last year, former Daly City City Treasurer Joseph Lewkowitz, who has given much of his adult life to civic matters and government work, decided to start unloading some of the burdens he shouldered over the years.

His heart was bad and his private business was picking up. He talked to the City Fathers and they agreed to his retirement — providing. Providing he consent to assist whomever was appointed for a few weeks during what has become an accepted transition period.

The City Treasurer's job is not such that one can simply say "here 'tis" and walk happily into the sunset.

Anthony (Tony) Zidich was appointed with the full consent of Joe and all members of the City Council. Joe started showing Zidich the ropes but was unable to complete his mission before he was hit by a heart attack. Having some eight months unused sick leave accrued, Joe was placed in this category. He is still on it, having had a relapse.

THE CATEGORY Joe was placed in before he became ill, in order to carry him on the city books during the transition, was as a Deputy License Collector. There is no slot for what Joe was expected to do in the City Treasurer's office. And he would remain at his $400 monthly salary while helping Zidich. Joe's retirement date under present state retirement statutes (something Joe has paid into for years) is May 1, 1972.

THERE'S A NEW four-page bi-lingual bulletin out titled, "Report to the People," and written by the Citizens to Save Old Daly City. It's an interesting effort and professionally done. I would make one comment to set the record straight. The Daly City Redevelopment Agency's booklet on "Center City" was printed by a VERY union firm. The bulletin claims a non-union firm printed the booklet. If they would like the name of the union firm (which didn't put the "bug" on its work) just call us. We'll tell.

SUPERVISOR ST. CLAIR is back in the news with his liquor store business again. This time he wants the Alcoholic Beverage Control people (and us) to believe he is actually a Robin Hood in disguise, selling booze at a lower price.

Now that we know who "Robin Hood" gives to, would it be presumptuous of us to ask who he . . . ?

Rather than face a boiling mad former football-star-turned-politician, we'll forget the question. At any rate, the latest episode between St. Clair and the ABC proves one thing: Those booze-watchers don't forget. Last year they lost a case (no pun) against St. Clair.

FLASHY FLASH — Burlingame Councilman Bill Crosby will be named chairman of Republicans for Ryan. Watch for it. Democrat Ryan is going for the new 11th Congressional seat.

ON POLITICIANS — Rumor has it that GOP contender for the 27th Assembly District seat being vacated by Ryan, Edward Morgan, has cornered the money market, while fellow GOP'er Ted Long goes begging. Frankly folks, we're from Missouri and have to be shown. It would be a rare instance where a party backs an individual in a primary.

OCCIDENTALS CAN'T SEEM to understand why that Japanese Army sergeant didn't surrender for almost 28 years after the war ended. Sergeant Yokoi stayed holed up in a cave on the South Pacific island of Guam and was recently captured. On arrival in Japan he apologized to the Emperor for not giving his life for his country.

There was a time when national pride in this country was much the same. There is still much "Apple Pie and Motherhood" going around.

A revival of years gone by we suppose. A popular tatoo of decades ago was "Death Before Dishonor," complete with a heart and bloody dagger. While we don't write off the Japanese sergeant as some kind of a nut, we still maintain General George Patton had the right idea when he said to his men, "The idea is to make the enemy die for his country — while you live for yours."

WHAT'S THAT JOE? San Francisco Mayor Joe Alioto said it to San Mateo County Supervisor Bob St. Clair regarding S.F. County Jail criticism: "Why doesn't he take care of the jails in his own backyard?" Good question, Joe! Now, could someone tell me where the jail near San Bruno is and who is responsible for this wretched facility?

BOOK REVIEW DEPT. — "Boss," the story of Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley, is missing from the South San Francisco Library. Rumor has it that the South City Troika — Councilmen Frank Bertucelli, Patrick Ahern and William Borba — are studying the novel along with City Attorney John Noonan. The book tells about Daley's rise to power and how he manages to keep his head above water year after year. May we suggest library officials also give a cursory look and see if the book might not be making the rounds of Colma's City Council?

DALTON'S BOOK STORE at the Serramonte Shopping Center has two of my favorite books written by Daly City Policemen Tom Culley, Dave Hansen and John Kolbmann. Titled "Closed Circuit TV" and "The Police Leader" the books are on display alongside the best seller "The New Centurians." Both local books give the reader a good insight into modern-day police methods. The authors were commended by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover. (End of plug.)

OKEH, WHO'S THE patriotic crook that stole the 48-star U.S. flag from in front of Baatrice Clark's house at 601 Schwerin Street in Daly City on Washington's birthday. You can't hardly find a 48-star American flag anymore, so let's return it. I would suggest police first check all the known flag thieves in Hawaii and Alaska.

BAD NEWS FOR KIDS — The Jefferson Elementary School District will soon announce its choice for "School Community Representative." When I was a kid they called the guy a "truant officer." How times change. The fellow the Board is expected to select for the job is a well-known Chicano that has done much civic work in the city.

'Hoboing Aint What It Was'

By BOB PETERSON

Hoboing ain't what it used to be 40 years ago.

Nowadays a respectable hobo can't even find a tin can to cook his soup. Everything's made of plastic.

So Richard Wilson, who likes to be called 'The Pennsylvania Kid," and smiles when you call him "The King (of the Hoboes)" carries a military-type canteen cook kit.

"I make coffee in it mostly," said the 63-year-old professional tramp, sitting comfortably in a barber chair at Ray's Barbershop, 313 Grand Avenue, South San Francisco.

He's originally from Franklin, Pa. ("northwest, towards Erie") but disclaims having any permanent home. "I've been looking for one for ten years," he said.

As a hobo, it would seem that Wilson is living pretty high on the hog in South San Francisco. He's staying in a $14-a-week hotel. Asked about it, Wilson shrugged and said, "I help them (the hotel people) and they help me (with a room)."

So what does he do, mainly?

"I just meet people, and get in the paper and on television here and there," he said, a continuous grin on his stubbly bearded face.

A hat that resembles more a bonnet, tied under his chin with a leather shoestring, covered his head, except for some long curls of greying hair showing itself down around his collar.

"The last time I had a haircut was ten years ago. I think it was in Utah, when some guy made a bet with another guy and said he'd give me $10 if I'd get my hair cut. So I done it."

He wasn't in Ray's Barber Shop to get another haircut. Like he said, "just meeting people."

Wilson said a local councilman bought him a cup of coffee the other day. He said he couldn't remember who it was, but pulled a white worn snap billfold from his bib overalls and began looking for a business card.

Others in the shop were prodding him, and offering suggestions on who the local official might be. Wilson began describing the philanthropist, all the while pulling out old newspaper clippings of his travels.

After putting on bifocals and more description, and a thoughtful, "he looks a lot like me," one customer started rattling off names of the city officials.

"Mammini . . . Borba . . ."

"Yah, that sounds like it," said Wilson, finally giving up on finding the card. "I probably left it in my room." He replaced the billfold and took out a red bandana handkerchief to wipe his nose.

Wilson said he once learned the carpenter trade, "and to cut hair, but I quit." He said he's done a lot of odd jobs, but relys mostly on "friends and people who read about me" to help him out with the necessities of life.

"I exercise a lot, and take a physic to clean myself out," he said, as the photographer asked him to move into the next chair and pose for another picture to put in his collection.

On the finger of his right hand he wore a high school ring. "It's my 1929 Edison High School ring," he said proudly, then flashed his left hand containing two more rings. "They're rings from my girlfriends," he said with a twinkle in his eye. One's from Montana; the other Iowa."

As to marriage? "Not yet, but I'm looking for one," he said, twiddling the safety pin stuck to the bib of his overalls.

He admits it's about time to quit the tromping around the country. "I hate to quit. But I have to quit pretty soon. I may have to wait (two years) for my social security, or else use my head to save money in order to retire from the road."

When he does he says it'll probably be in the desert country of Arizona, Utah or New Mexico. "I like the desert."

Wilson, obviously the celebrity of the moment, and enjoying it, picked up his duffle, bid his good-byes and stepped out onto the street. If he didn't have the sweat shirt on, the greasy Army jacket (a "young kid in Chico" gave him) would hardly be enough to keep him warm.

He didn't get far before a crowd of kids surrounded him. It was obvious he enjoyed the attention. "I can't say much against the kids," he said. "Kids should travel. If it were me I'd let them go, as long as they don't get into trouble. But before they travel they should finish school."

Wilson said that "once you get over the loneliness" traveling alone is the "greatest thing for you." He said it helps a person understand himself, and better to understand others."

He said he's going to hang around South San Francisco for a couple of weeks then head out toward Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, "maybe then it'll be time to go north."

You'll probably find him next summer in Britt, Iowa, where he'll be defending his title as "King of the Hoboes."

Battling Bugs Nature's Way

"Ladybug, ladybug, don't fly away home. Devour all those psyllids and save the acacia from doom."

Well it's not much of a nursery rhyme, but that's the theme of an experiment being conducted in the acacia trees along Bayshore Freeway at Millbrae.

Researchers from University of California's Biological Control Division have "planted" colonies of Australian ladybugs among the acacia trees, because the trees are natives of Australia and they are infested with another insect which has been eating the trees.

The other insect is Albizzia Psyllid.

Back in Australia, the Albizzia Psyllid is kept under control by hungry Diomus ladybugs, which eat the Psyllid eggs. But when the acacia trees were transplanted to America, their natural enemies were left behind and the Psyllids have been multiplying like Psyllids.

This use of a natural enemy to control limit growth of a pest, is called biological control. One expert calls it "applied ecology."

Later, the technique will be tried in San Diego and Orange counties, where the eager Psyllids move away from the acacia-lined freeways, and into the orange groves.

Division of Highways explain that the biological control technique is being developed as an alternative to control by insecticides.

They say the Australian ladybugs have gone through a "quarantine" period, to make certain that they would not become pests, too.

The test is under guidance of Division of Highways Maintenance Engineer Burch C. Bachtold and University of California's Dr. Kenneth S. Hagen, principal researcher for the Division of Biological Control.

Wrapped in a Cloak of Misery

It must have been a motorist riding through the fog who cried, "There's no road, no street, no other side of the way!"

Who, in the Daly City area, at least has not reacted to the fog echoing the lady from Westlake who screamed in crimson tones, "Damned stuff — it keeps me wrapped in a cloak of misery —" or the business man who settled here because he found the fog "a tonic to my spirit and restful to my nerves?" In Daly City no one ignores the fog as it comes creeping over the hills, as Oscar Wilde wrote, "'till the houses' walls seem changed to shadows" and the largest buildings "loom over the fog like bubbles o'er the town.

You can read about the fog as it "rubs its back upon the windowpanes" in Dr. George H. T. Kimble's book, "Our American Weather." Here are twelve chapters, one for each month, that explains the weather — good, bad, or indifferent.

The chapter on November deals with the fog. In it Dr. Kimble writes ". . . against fog man has been able to do almost nothing — except make it worse by belching millions of tons of smoke into the atmosphere. Fog still grounds his air armadas, immobilizes his fleets, and views with a blackout in raising road-accident costs."

Calling the fog "the mists that roll and rise," he explains what causes the fog and why it covers some areas but not others "wrapping hill, valley, grove, and town in low-hung clouds and soft, gray mist."

From fog, Dr. Kimble turns to smog and its cure. He also outlines the attempts that science has made to disperse the fog and lick the smog. This alone makes "Our American Weather" a book for everyone's reading list.

Another is Janet Nickelsburg's "California Climates" was written for children but, nevertheless, appeals to adults. What is climate? What makes sunny, mild weather in one place and bitter cold in another? How does air make weather and why does air rise and sink? Why is Daly City foggy? There are the questions that make Ms. Nickelsburg's book excellent reading.

A third book is "Your Guide to the Weather" by George L. Cantzlaar. His book can impart a wealth of material to any fog-bound reader.

A fourth book is Florence W. Van Shaten's "Weather or Not." It explains how currents that ride clear from Japan make Daly City so foggy that the weather becomes the topic of conversation in such meetings as the recent employees banquet.

Population Dispersal

Recently I traveled to New York. After leaving the Bay Area my impression from the plane window was of the vastness and emptiness of our land. The mountains, hills, valleys, deserts, and farm lands were, from 29,000 feet, devoid of population.

This seemed strangely incompatible with the accepted dogma that the U.S. is overpopulated. People, we are told, have become so numerous that they are a form of pollution. Some demographers (who have apparently never overflown our beautiful and largely vacant land) tell the young to stop having children. We are to be overjoyed as the death rate climbs and the birth rate falls.

But as the plane approached New York and environs the view from the window changed. Here, on the opposite end of the continent, people again appeared. From high in the air one could almost sense the problems: garbage strikes, phone break downs, bankrupt trains, abandoned buildings, smog, polluted water, strife in the streets and governmental breakdown.

Down at last on the ground, one met these problems in all their depressing reality. The strip cities of the west, it should be remembered, are fairly new. Those on the eastern seaboard have large segments that are old, terribly dilapidated and unbelievably run down.

Inside the mess that man hath wrought, the view of the anti people cult didn't look so bad. Why, after all, have more children if they are to live in the manner of central New York City of the 70's?

The difference, of course, is to be seen in the manner in which Americans live. For a variety of reasons, with all of a glorious continent to settle, we have chosen to live in a few highly compact areas.

The trend, of course, is not uniquely American. In 1850 only four cities on earth had a population of more than one million. By 1960 there were 141. World urban population is increasing at the rate of 6.5 per cent per year and at this rate the world's urban population will double within eleven years.

In the United States, 73.5 per cent of the population lives in urban areas. A large part of this percentage comes from the suburbs, and the 1970 census showed that for the first time suburban population exceeded that of either the central cities or the non-metropolitan parts of the nation.

The Bureau of the Census employs the concept of "Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas" (SMSA's) to describe cities of 50,000 or more plus surrounding urban and suburban complexes. The ten largest SMSA's are large indeed, ranging from New York at about 11½ million to St. Louis at nearly 2½ million. San Francisco-Oakland ranks sixth at just over 3 million.

Another way to understand the manner in which we live is to compare our land mass with total population. We have 57.4 people for every square mile of area. The City of San Francisco occupies 44.6 square miles.

Moreover, the passion of Americans to live closely together continues. In the central parts (and even some of the edges) of SMSA's the squeeze of people spills out in the only easy direction — upward. The tendency toward compactness seems analagous to that of matter in those mysterious stars in which great mass is concentrated within an incredibly small volume.

How many of our most insoluble problems rise from density of population? Certainly as one broods over the lexicon of current ills, the list seems long.

Add to this the practical necessity of survival in the atomic age. Russia's population is much less compact and her industry is less centralized than ours. While we all certainly hope that the holocaust will never rise, we should sense our relative vulnerability. Our SMSA's offer an easy target and their very existence could tempt attack.

Common sense says that for reasons of self preservation and almost comfort and decency of living the SMSAs should be broken up and our population more evently dispersed.

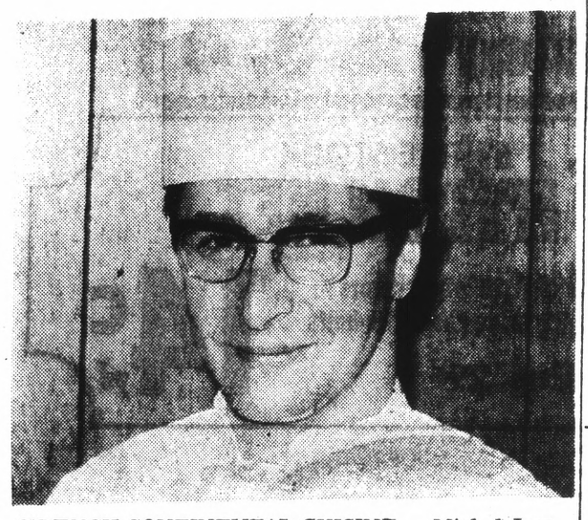
Harness Racing Scene Shifts To All Nights

From tonight on, through March 4, the Harness Racing scene shifts to evening hours, with the first race starting at 7:45 p.m. The setting for this evening's fun is Bay Meadows in San Mateo, where there is action the year 'round for the "horse set." At Bay Meadows, one has a selection, what with Harness Racing, Quarter Horse racing, and Thoroughbred racing, each having a scheduled meet. Following the March 4 closing of Harness racing, the race track will be dark until the Quarter Horse meet gets under way, March 18 through June 3. These will be night events; first race also scheduled at 7:45 p.m. Heated stands, cocktail lounges, entertainment, and dining rooms for your pleasure. A night at Bay Meadows is an experience you will long remember . . . If you think you've tried the best pizzas around, we tend to doubt you unless you've eaten at Romano's Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Owner Enrico Romano has gone to great trouble to perfect the art of preparing pizzas, and it would be difficult to surpass the marvelous manner in which he serves up those piping hot, mouth-watering delicacies of his.



FRENCH CONTINENTAL CUISINE — Michel Janicka, Le Parisien chef-owner, and one of the best in the business. His new Burlingame restaurant has caught on big with the dine out public, and the food raves are many.

Kathy Dee Piano Bar Expert At Bruno's S.M.

Live entertainment is a weekend happening at Bruno's in downtown San Mateo. Presiding at the pianobar in the lounge is Kathy Dee, who is equally comfortable playing old classics, show tunes and pop hits. Join the fun any Friday or Saturday evening from 9 p.m. . . . If it's late evening and you suddenly have the desire to dine out, head for The Red Cottage. Ken Parrett's Menlo Park restaurant serves dinner every night of the week, including Sunday, until midnight . . . If you like Australian Lobster Tail, you'll definitely appreciate the "Royal Queens," as served at Atherton's Lord Fletcher Inn. Covered with melted butter and lemon parsley, this is just one of several superb entrees receiving food raves . . . Vic Scafani has to be one of the most energetic restaurant owners on the Peninsula. He and his partner, John Graziano, manage to oversee the daily operation of two very successful restaurants, Woodlake Joe's and The Brentwood Lodge. The two industrious gents opened the Brentwood Lodge in 1961, with Woodlake Joe's in San Mateo celebrating a sixth birthday this April . . . Among the many prominent Peninsulans who are becoming regular dinner patrons at Le Parisien in Burlingame are Sam Basin (he's a big furniture "wheel" of San Mateo) and his lovely wife, who recently returned from a trip to the Argentine.

Royal Coach Sunday Brunch

Everyone is talking about the Sunday Family Brunch now being featured at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel in San Mateo. Served in the plush Coach & Horses dining room, the modestly-priced brunch is a family affair every Sunday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m . . . Thousands of visitors and Bay Area residents have made A. Sabella's at Fisherman's Wharf their dining headquarters for informal get-togethers and special functions. In addition to an array of seafood appetizers, cocktails, soups, large salads and sandwiches, there is a wide choice of Italian dishes, steaks and fowl. The Wharf action beyond the picture windows can be enjoyed from either the dining room or lounge . . . Bertolucci's in South City is known as a celebrity haven. Diners here can often "rub elbows" with the greats and near greats of show business, famous sports figures and high-ranking government officials. Word of Mamma Bertolucci's Cannelloni really gets around . . . Gourmet suggestion: Choucroute de Strasbourg, as expertly prepared by Fernand Wagner at La Cigogne in downtown San Mateo. This dish has been called a "masterpiece" by many restaurant critics.

Villa Hotel Convention Headquarters

The Villa Hotel will play host to a host of guests in the upcoming months. Considered a "Convention headquarters of the Bay Area," this San Mateo hotel with resort accommodations will be the scene of much party activity, which includes being host to State. Council of Carpenters, Knights of Phythias, and Credit Women's Association in the month of April. The Villa Hotel will be headquarters for the Powder Puff Derby in July, a popular event looked forward to with much enthusiasm. Also on the agenda are special functions of national organizations of state and county governments. If your group is planning something particular for the near future, get those reservations in the book pronto . . . A big crowd-pleaser at the Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto is the Jewish folksong "Hava Negila," which is a recent addition to Ross MacKay's bag of songs. The talented singer-guitarist is accompanied by much singing and handclapping as he performs, Tuesdays through Saturdays . . . The Veal Camozzi, named after Chef Rudy Cannozzi at L'Auberge in Atherton, is his version of the more familiar Altimbocca. The dish is a large piece of veal, with slices of Prosciutto ham, prepared in a truffle and Madeira wine sauce. Try it!

Nick's "Double Header" Continues To Please

The Chef at The Moonraker, a plush, nautical restaurant overlooking the surf at Rockaway Beach, has a truly delicate touch with Australian Lobster Tails. If you place yourself in the capable hands of the maitre 'd, allowing him to suggest a dinner consistent with your taste, you should go away being a big booster of this Pacifica dinner house . . . For something spicy, The Papagayo Room, located just downstairs, offers all the Mexican food you could wish for. Nick Gust, the cordial owner-host, has extended the expiration date on his "2 Dinners for the Price of 1" offer through March 26. Present the coupon appearing in the Papagayo Room ad running in Bright Lights and receive a choice of a Steak Picado or Large Combination Plate (the least expensive dinner is free) . . . For a well-rounded menu of breakfast, lunch and dinner selections, Nick's restaurant and lounge is the natural place to go when on the coast. Also owned and operated by the well known Gust family, Nick's has long been identified as a gathering center for friends to meet, eat, drink and dance. Private parties are booked well in advance for the banquet rooms. . . . Joel Nobel, choreographer of the fast-paced new revue at Finocchio's, has been booked for a date on the David Frost television show. Nobel, who has sung and danced in some top Broadway shows, is currently directing a new ensemble number at Finocchio's, based on "No, No, Nanette."

Park Avenue Tours' Many Nevada Package Deals

The Bay Area's Park Avenue Tours has a package deal guaranteed to save you money, if Reno or Lake Tahoe is your destination. The various packages offered include money-saving bonuses, with cash, food and cocktails being presented upon arrival. Plus, you travel in style. And, if staying overnight, you can be assured that your accommodations will be the very best available . . . Frank and Fannie Torres, now that they have completed their yearly month-long vacation, have settled into the routine once again at Torres Beach Restaurant in Montara (just south of Devil's Slide on Coast Highway One) and are again offering their South American dishes . . . There's a totally new look at The Black Stag in Belmont. Not only has Manager Bob Lavoie introduced a new luncheon and dinner menu, but he has "recruited" attractive gals to work as waitresses. This restaurant really bustles during the luncheon hours, when local businessmen hash over early-day events while feasting leisurely . . . The luncheon hours are usually frantic at the Golden Steer, Redwood City, as mid-Peninsula businessmen seem to be "addicted" to chef Tony Esquivel's cuisine. In addition to the regular menu, there are always daily specials, which include soup, salad and coffee.

Vigor And Friendliness Vince's Restaurant

Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant abounds with vigor and friendliness. It continues to bespeak the hospitality that has made it a Peninsula restaurant byword. Vince Licata never allows changes so abrupt that customers will fail to feel at home. Many guests prefer dining at the long counter, where chefs toss and scoop before you, and flames leap from open stoves. For those entertaining friends, family and business clients, there are comfortable booths and other dining areas in which to dine more formally . . . Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City attracts diners who search for good food served quietly and correctly in a pleasant atmosphere, at reasonable prices. The skill of the chefs is apparent in such superb dishes as the Gourmet Platter for Two (sliced sirloin, barbecued ribs, chicken and scampi) and Boneless Breast of Chicken (stuffed with wild rice). Consistent with cuisine and atmosphere is the hospitality of the owners, Mary Lou Frances, Theresa and Bud Urban, and Helen Trainer, all of whom try to greet every guest . . . Even though meat prices are at an all-time high, Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco continues to hold the line on prices. You can still enjoy a superb, pay-by-the-ounce steak dinner in Lehr's elegant Wellington Room for as little as $5.25.

MAGNETIC MARGIE — Clancy's organist, Margie Brandon, has the uncanny ability to captivate all tourists and out-of-towners who venture to the City for an evening of fun and entertainment. Once settled at the organ bar, little Margie makes sure nobody leaves until she goes home at closing time.

Bill Burch Recording Star S.F. Hilton Inn

Guitarist Bill Burch, fresh from an engagement in Reno, Nev., has opened an engagement at the San Francisco Hilton Inn. Burch, who incidentally just graduated from the University of Nevada in dietetics, is familiar to audiences in Las Vegas, Los Angeles, and San Diego. He has two hit recordings to his credit: Dante's Theme with Courtney Records and When Johnny Comes Marching Home, with Mainstream Records . . . The Paul Verzonsa Trio, the group appearing in the cocktail lounge at The Costa Brava restaurant, has quite a flair for Latin jazz. These veteran entertainers are happy to play your requests while you enjoy cocktail and listen or dance to their smooth music. Open for both lunch and dinner seven days a week; two banquet rooms for special parties . . . Popular mixologist Earl Webb is behind the plank again at Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina district. Long-time patrons of Lehr's will remember when Earl teamed with the late Stan Marcus as the "Dynamic Duo" of the cocktail mixers . . . Singer-guitarist Jack Bedient and Jodi and Mike combine talents to provide a well-rounded evening of lively entertainment each night in the Silver Dollar Room at Harolds Club, Reno.

George McCaman Host of The Week

Bright Lights' "Host of the Week" goes to George McCaman, the dapper gent who greets diners at the Shadows of San Mateo. George, who also serves as the general manager, knows most of their regular diners on a first name basis. Needless to say he is one of the true restaurant veterans, among many, working for Owner Dave Rasmussen . . . Bangers and Mash is one of several items on the menu at Ken Gilley's Prince of Wales, an authentic English pub in San Mateo. As for grog, you will find a fine selection of imported beer, ale and stout. Oh yes, dart games are a popular recreation here . . . Vince Russo's restaurant in San Bruno is now called The Distillery. With the exception of complete remodeling (inside and outside), the policy here remains the same. Lunch is served five days a week, Mondays through Fridays; dinner served nightly. Chef Sam Cino is behind the culinary offerings. . . . Frederick Haas, the new chef at Cardoni's Half Moon Bay Inn, has worked in top resort hotels throughout the world. In addition to stints of duty in several European capitals, Frederick spent two and a half years at the Casa Mundras in Monterey.

Franciscan Restaurant A Favorite

The Franciscan restaurant at Fisherman's Wharf is a favorite gathering spot for the "in" people of San Francisco and the Peninsula. Which means that while you dine in this scenic spot, watching the ships pass to and fro through the Golden Gate, you might be seated directly next to celebrities or society people of considerable stature . . . This is the weekend to catch West, a swingin' group appearing every Friday and Saturday night at the Band Stand. This club, located on El Camino Real where Redwood City and Atherton meet, also presents after-hours entertainment on Fridays and Saturdays . . . When it comes to delicious Italian pastas, Bruno's in the Mission steps up to the front row. Chef John prides himself with the varied pasta dishes always a big feature on the popular Bruno menu. Check the choices — Baked Lasagne, Spaghetti with Pesto Sauce, Spaghetti Caruso, etc. A world of pasta dishes from which to choose all reciped by a master chef . . . The Trio Orfeo plays the music, but it is the sensuous belly dancers who create a pulsating kind of sexuality nightly at the Greek Taverna in North Beach.

Hurlers Hold Hopes in NPL Diamond Dogfight

By JERRY LITTRELL

North Peninsula League coaches looking for baseball talent need look no further than 60 feet-6 inches away in the 1972 season.

That's the distance to the pitcher's mound and that's where the majority of talent stands this year in what should be another tough run for the conference championship.

If it's possible, coaches tend to agree this should be even more balanced this year than last when the South San Francisco Warriors had a dog-fight right down to the wire before annexing the title.

Most people seem to feel that the balance of power will switch back to Pacifica this year and base that upon the strong right arm of all-star athlete John Racanelli, Terra Nova High School's fireballing hurler who could be the best on the Peninsula.

Racanelli, All-NPL in football and the league's second best basketball scorer, is even a better baseball prospect. At 6-2, 180 pounds, he possesses a blazing fast ball, a sharp curve and excellent control. Rookie coach Marty Coil, taking over this year for Bud Bresnahan, also has an entire junior infield. In fact, except for Racanelli and back-up hurler Lee Shackleford, all the Tigers will be back for at least another year.

Defending champion South Cith has veteran Rick Haggstrom ready to throw. Haggstrom, you might recall, pitched the final seven shutout innings in the Central Coast Section playoffs against Hillsdale in that marathon 16-inning scoreless tie. He has a better-than-average curve, good control and an improving fast ball.

The Warriors, who abandoned the bunt-and-run tactics last year, will probably revert right back this season with a physically small but quick team that will fit Bob Brian's style to a tee.

Westmoor may have the hardest-hitting contingent in the league so coach Rodney Losberger must come up with a defense and some mound mainstays to make it a title year. The pitching talent is there in veterans Brad Casey and Gavin Long. Casey won his last four NPL outings last season and Long, still only a junior, is bigger and faster this year.

The Rams also have the league's leading hitter, Brad Kearns (.426) back for another season along with two-year varsity veterans Ted Grey, Steve Murray and Gary Stoller. If experience counts the Rams could take the title.

Half Moon Bay likewise has a strong-armed thrower in veteran Frankie Reyes. One of the smaller sized throwers around, Reyes nevertheless can overpower batters with his hummer or finesse them with his breaking pitches. Cougar coach Neil McNevin must find an offense, though, to give Reyes a few runs to work with.

Serramonte could threaten also depending upon the condition of lefthander Dave Theuner. One of the more gifted throwers around, Theuner languished in the outfield last year with a very sore arm and early reports don't look much better for this year. John Stack, a Regent veteran, is a capable hurler but the Regents, too, must find a few hitters in the middle of the lineup.

Jefferson's chances also depend upon the as-yet undecided Ken Smith, the Indian basketball star. Smith may sit out his enior year of baseball and that would leave the Indian mound staff dry. With his 6-6, 215 pound frame Smith has been known to intimidate a few people by saying "Boo!" and throwing his hard-stuff sidearm.

El Camino and Oceana High Schools don't have the proven pitching and will suffer for it. The Colts have Tom Horiye back from last year and Rudy Castellanos a possibility from the soph team but graduation depleted the offense.

Rookie coach Mike Wedlake will take over the Sharks this year and found veteran pitching ace Desi Chavez transferred to Sacramento. Jim Romero will obviously be the Oceana workhorse but there doesn't seem to be enough bats right now for the Sharks.

Trojans to Host State Mat Titans

Regional wrestling tournaments at Aptos, Norwalk, Rocklin and Huntington Beach Friday determined qualifiers for the 1972 state JC tournament at Skyline College, March 3-4.

Top four finishers in each weight class at each regional comprise the state field.

The top five teams in the JC Athletic Bureau's pre-regional rankings are the chief contenders for state honors. Chabot, 16-0-1 on the year, heads the ratings, just ahead of defending state champ Cerritos, which has completed a third straight unbeaten season.

In close at No. 3 is Metropolitan Conference champ El Camino, followed by Golden Gate Conference tourney victor Diablo Valley and Metro tourney winner Bakersfield (22-3).

GGC champ Chabot and tenth-ranked Modesto (20-0) are the state's only unbeaten (dual) teams.

Chabot and Diablo headlined the North Section tournament at Cabrillo College in Aptos — the state's largest section with 22 teams and featuring five of the state's top 11 ranked teams, including No. 7 San Jose, No. 8 De Anza and No. 11 Foothill.

Canada, College of San Mateo and Skyline all compete in the same section.

In the Camino Norte tournament last week, Canada had a pair of runners-up in 126-pounder Nick Testa and 190-pounder Hal Morris. Tom Cherhoniak of Skyline placed second at 142 pounds.

South S.F. Survives Overtime Thriller

By JERRY LITTRELL

Coming off a game that ran from despair to ecstasy, the South San Francisco Warriors battled Westmoor in last night's semi-final action of the North Peninsula League Shaughnessy Playoffs at Skyline Junior College.

And no matter what happens, it seems impossible that it could top the excitement of the SSF-Oceana overtime game last Saturday night in San Bruno. The near-capacity crowd was emotionally spent after watching Oceana rally from an 11-point deficit in the second half to lead by two with one second remaining—only to lose in the extra period, 65-63.

The game offered everything possible—excellent and poor ball handling as well as circus shooting and missed layins, a fast-break attack and a time-comsuming zone defense, etc., etc., etc.

After an even-up first period Warrior substitutes Rhod Wallace and Keith Klein came off the bench to spark SSF to an eight-point halftime bulge, 28-20, as Oceana just didn't get its offense moving until the third period.

That slow-start proved fatal. South City moved out to a 44-33 lead in the third period before Oceana's front line went to work. Of the 22 buckets the Sharks sank, 21 came from Terry Johnston, Art Thomas, who played a sensational game, and Tom Harper (seven each from the front line).

Oceana scored the final four points of the third period and the frantic chase was on. Brad Lefler's inside scoring in the first half earned him 11 by intermission and, after a cold third period, the senior forward gave SSF a 56-51 lead on a layin with 2:20 left. The Warriors weren't to score again until that last second.

Completely dominating the boards by controlling the weak-side rebounding, Oceana, which had twice downed SSF in NPL play, crept closer and closer with Harper hitting a three-point play at 2:15 and following that with a 10-footer at 1:50 to tie the contest for the first time since the first period.

Johnston's fast-break layin off a Warrior turnover with just 10 seconds remaining gave Oceana a 58-56 lead. South City raced downcourt and Lefler drove for the tying bucket. He was fouled and given two free throws with two seconds left.

His first shot hit the front and back rim, bounced four times and fell out as the Oceana rooters exploded in glee. Warrior Coach Gene Mullin called time, told Lefler to miss the second and hope for an offensive rebound.

The shot fell off, four bodies hit it out of bounds and the refs awarded the Warriors the ball with one second left. The out-of-bounds play got fouled up underneath so Marty Gale took the inbound pass 15 feet away on the baseline and fired a high-arcing shot just as the buzzer sounded. It swished. OT.

Thomas hit two free throws to open the fifth period before Chris Vance hit a single charity shot and Lefler hit a layin and added two free throws to give SSF a 63-60 lead with 1:24. Harper cut the gap to 63-61 with a free throw and tied the game with 40 seconds left on a short jumper.

The game seemed destined for another period as Gale's jumper with three seconds left skidded off but the Oceana rebounders hesitated momentarily allowing guard Mark Hillsinger to slice baseline, grab the missed shot and while stretching out at a 45-degree angle or so, bank in the rebound as the buzzer sounded.

Rams Upset Jeff

By JERRY LITTRELL

In one of those rare occurrences in Shaughnessy-type basketball playoffs two teams played on Friday in the first round of North Peninsula League action and neither was eliminated.

That's because Westmoor High School upended conference champion Jefferson, 42-38, earning the Rams the right to play in the second round Tuesday.

Jefferson,s Indians, meanwhile, has to be defeated twice and therefore gets a rest until tonight when the Indians will play someone for the playoff title.

Playing with their backs against the wall (one loss and it's goodbye) the Rams came out in a tenacious zone defense that literally throttled the Indian attack. Westmoor's idea was to keep the ball away from the Indians' two big men, center Ken Smith and forward Harold Norman, and it worked.

Clogging the middle effectively and knocking off enough lead passes to the corners, the Rams led for the first 12 minutes before a combination of four consecutive turnovers and two long jumpers by Joe Randolph gave Jeff its first lead, 18-16.

The Rams consistently were their own worst enemy — Westmoor totaled 21 turnovers for the game including eight miscues in the first five minutes of the second half. Jeff cashed in on these lapses as Ray Viado scored twice to push the Indian advantage to five, their biggest lead, 29-24.

But when the buzzer sounded to end the third period it also indicated the end of the Indian offense for the night — Westmoor outscored the NPL champions, 11-4, 8n the final eight minutes as Jeff just couldn't seem to get near the hoop.

Ted Grey opened that period for Westmoor with a baseline jumper and Gavin Long gave the Rams the lead they were never to relinquish when he popped a 10-footer for a 35-34 Ram lead. Jim Woods' layin with 3:50 remaining upped the margin to three before Smith, who played an excellent game once his teammates got him the ball, hit a slicing layin.

Gray hit center Leo Biederman on a perfect pass under the bucket at the 2:20 mark and then Woods went to work.

The senior guard hit a free throw at 1:45 and stole the ball after Jeff had come downcourt. The Indians intentionally fouled Long, who came up short on his two attempts, but Woods snuck behind on the second missed shot, stole the rebound and laid it back up for 42-36.

The Westmoor-Jeff game was one of the cleanest affairs in a long while. Neither team even had an opportunity to shoot a bonus free throw as the Rams were called just six times for fouls while Jeff was caught on eight occasions.

The North Peninsula League's four playoff teams all won in Wednesday's final conference action setting the stage for the Friday night's first-round playoff action at Skyline Junior College.

Conference play was rather routine Wednesday with the biggest story being the crowning of a new NPL scoring champion —John Racanelli of Terra Nova High School. The talented senior forward scored 34 points in an 82-65 loss to South SF and thereby tallied 199 points for the year, breaking T N scoring records for single game and season-play along the way.

Racanelli and Jefferson's Ken Smith had been fairly close in the scoring race all season long but against Half Moon Bay Wednesday Smith injured his ankle in the first period and was benched as a precautionary method with just six points. The Indians went on to handle winless HMB, 70-59.

Forward Gary Lindsey picked up the scoring slack with a fine 27-point output on 10 buckets and seven free throws while diminutive guard Joe Randolph chipped in for 18 points on his outside jumpers.

"We kept one and sometimes two men on Racanelli all night long," said Warrior coach Gene Mullin, "but it seemed everything he shot went through."

The SSF Warriors, meanwhile, were throwing a few things through on their own. Breaking open the game by halftime with a quick man-to-man pressing defense and a near-perfect fast-break attack, the Warriors built up a quick 18-point lead with center Lynn Simmons getting 16 of his 21 points by half and never let up.

Guard Rory Poblitz came off the bench to spark a lukewarm Westmoor offense and enable the Rams to keep host El Camino just out of reach of the victory. Poblitz, in a little over a half, tallied 13 and shared game honors with junior forward Gavin Long.

For Camino it was a sad case of what might have been. All season long the Colts have played everyone tough but just haven't had the offense to cope with the bigger teams. Yesterday forward Bob Marty, lost to Camino since the first week of the practice season because of a broken hand, returned to the lineup and made a few fans wonder if . . .

He blocked five shots, grabbed five rebounds and scored 10 points in a losing cause playing just over half the game. Unfortunately for Marty, a senior, it was his finale.

Serramonte made a brief but effective run at the visiting Oceana Sharks in the third period and tied the game once but couldn't hold off the outside shooting of guard Jim Ribera who helped guide the Sharks to a second-place tie.

Ribera came off the bench to hit 12 points while center Art Thomas and forward Tom Harper added 16 each. The Sharks blew a 10-point lead before the third period ended but the Regents, losing center Todd Stevenson to an ejection decision by the officials, didn't have the offense to stay with Oceana in the last period.

Skyline's Track Trio Impressive

Taking three individual victories, Skyline College's track team made a successful season debut in the Camino Norte Conference Relays Saturday at De Anza College.

Although Contra Costa edged West Valley for the team title, 109-96, the Trojans were the surprise team of the meet—picking their spots well to chalk up 44 points.

Skyline Coach Bob Lualhati, lacking depth in the sprints, was forced to utilize pole vaulter Tom Lynn as leadoff man in the sprint medley relay and the Trojans ended up winning that event (3:32.6) and the pole vault relay (37-0). Lynn vaulted 14-0 to share the best height of the day with De Anza's John Ceglia—although the latter could be technically called the winner on fewer attempts.

Capuchino Matman Is CCS Champ

By DAN BERTELLOTTI

Capuchino High School's Paul Accinelli was a winner in Saturday's Central Coast Section wrestling finals at San Carlos.

He barely managed to qualify for the meet, but he's now the CCS 178-poind champion after a gruelling final match win over Jeff Ramona of Leland, 3-1.

There was another Peninsula champ. Terra Nova's 136-pounder, Greg Washe, defeated Mike Celegria of James Lick, 4-1.

Accinelli won all four of his matches; one by pin, two by decision and one in overtime. Washe was equally impressive. He completely outclassed his finals opponent.

Eleven wrestlers from the three Peninsula public school leagues will go to Saturday's NorCal championships at Cal State Hayward.

The Mid-Peninsula League got two second places. MPL 106-pound champ Mike Harney of San Mateo and Crestmoor's 141-pounder Mike Paul got all the way to the finals. Paul only lost 3-2.

Terra Nova's Norm Lacey placed second in the unlimited division. The NPL also placed George Newman of South San Francisco, Mike Calvin from Half Moon Bay and Mark Sanguinetti of Westmoor.

Three of the MPL's best grapplers fell by the wayside. San Mateo's Charlie Simon and Burlingame's Bob Mennis, unbeatable most of the season, finished sixth and will be alternates Saturday.

San Mateo's 194-pounder, Dale Curry (perhaps the best wrestler in the MPL) strained a knee ligament las week and was unable to compete.

Terra Nova was the highest local team finisher, in fifth place. MPL co-champs Crestmoor and San Mateo placed seventh (tie) and 17th, respectively.

There will be an organizational meeting for all coaches and captains at 6:30 p.m. today in the City Hall Conference Room.

Dave Barry, recreation supervisor, has details.

Ken Smith Tops All-NPL Voting

Using a new voting system to cut down on what some coaches called a "silly honorable mention" situation, the North Peninsula League chose its 1972 All-Conference team on Friday afternoos and chose 16 players for all three positions.

Jefferson High School center Ken Smith was a unanimous first-team selection as Player of the Year as five schools were represented on the five-man top squad.

John Racanelli, the league's leading scorer with 299 points in 14 games, was Terra Nova's representative while Oceana placed Tom Harper, El Camino landed high-scoring center Mark Spivey, and Westmoor's Gary Stoller rounded out the first team.

South San Francisco was the only team to make the play-offs and not place someone on the first team All-NPL.

The Warriors did manage to get center Brad Lefler on the second team along with Westmoor's Leo Biederman, Half Moon Bay's Pete Peterson, Oceana's Terry Johnston and Jefferson's Joe Randolph.

Honorable mention selection went to Serramonte's Kirk Dove and Todd Stevenson, SSF's Mason Larkin and Marty Gale, Westmoor's Gavin Long, and Jefferson's Gary Lindsey.

Fairmont Wins Coast Seventh Grade Game

Fairmont School made it win No. "1," as they took a 20-15 victory over Ortega School in Pacifica's Seventh Grade Baskerball League.

Allen Dawkins provided all the offensive punch for Fairmont, with 12 points, while Don Larsen paced the losers with eight points.

The Blue and Gold of Pacific Heights moved into a first-place tie with Linda Mar School, defeating San Andreas School, 26-10. Tom Harris and Mike Conachy scored 11 and 8 points, respectively, to pace the win for Pacific Heights.

Sharp Park School rolled into second place, as they by-passed Cabrillo School, 18-12. Sharp Park used a balance scoring attack in the victory.

Local Team's Gravy Train

If you've read this column for enough years, you know our philosophy of sports writers and columnists being on the local team gravy train. We've mentioned more than once that we rarely accept "freebies" directly from teams, because then they would perhaps expect favors in the column, and we couldn't write about things like the poor concessions service at Candlestick, or a grumpy usherette, or what crybabies Orlando Cepeda and Ken Venturi were, and such.

We have never stood alone in this philosophy. The San Francisco Examiner, a couple of years ago, put its traveling sports writers on its own tab, rather than allowing the home clubs to finance the reporters' road trips with the teams.

And the venerable sports newspaper, The Sporting News, has followed this philosophy. Which leads us, very cleverly, into a reprint, in part, of an editorial by C. Johnson Spink, editor and publisher of The Sporting News, which appeared recently, and which sums up our philosophy on the subject of subsidized traveling sports writers better than we could ever write it:

"One of our favorite stories about Abraham Lincoln concerns the occasion when the great President posed for his portrait and admonished the artist to paint him as he actually looked, "warts and all." That's what we've been telling our correspondents to do when they write about sports figures for The Sporting News.

"As far as we're concerned, 'Frank Merriwell is dead.' In fact, the All-America hero of perfect virtue never existed, except in fictional imagination. Yet we still read stories in some publications that describe our present-day athletes as if they were saints on a pedestal.

"The inability or unwillingness to write it 'warts and all' is one of the criticisms leveled against the press in an article on 'The Shame of the Sports Beat" by Bill Surface, a former sportwriter, in the January-February issue of the Columbia Journalism Review.

"Surface contends that many sportswriters 'advance an idolizing theme' and 'fawn over sports events' to the point that 'sports reporting has generally become so partial and so predictable that, on many occasions, it resembles more the work of a master of ceremonies than a journalist.'

"As a result, some writers hide the 'often gritty things' they know and feel themselves betrayed when a colleague reveals what the rest of them have chosn not to print. The basis of the trouble is that 'sportswriters find it extremely difficult to socialize repeatedly with a team and then report its faults.' Surface asserts.

"Here we have sportswriters who take their wives and children to spring training with the team. He and his family socialize with the players' families. He goes out to the movies, breakfasts, and goes to or from the game with the players. Many reporters' wives are in social events with players' wives. What we have is a big, happy family.

"Of course you don't read that the player ever drinks, curses or misses practice. One St. Louis player before he was traded was nothing but trouble all year long. But it wasn't reported. Nobody wanted to rock the boat. A reporter should avoid this situation because I suspect that anyone involved in this type relationship would find it difficult to blast the people who deserve blasting.

"Surface comments that writers who 'feel like part of the team, unwilling to annoy friends on it, can lead an enjoyable life.' They can pal with the players, they are recognized on sight by league officials and they can depend on the clubs to do favors for them. But the readers pay the price.

"Here are some other Surface observations.

" 'Except for public disagreements about players' salaries and contracts — a seasonal staple on sports pages — it is hard to find really incisive reporting about the troubled business side of sports.

" 'Investigative reporting . . . remains as rare as baseball's no-hit games. If the subject has damaging overtones for the home team, even critical reporting tends to be tolerant.

" 'With so many reporters wanting to accommodate friendly owners, teams have been protected from negative news for so long that even slight criticism brings violent reactions from club officials.

" 'A hard-hitting writer may find himself shut out of the team's inner circle for awhile, but as we told Surface, 'The ball club needs the publicity; they're not going to boycott the reporter for very long. . . .' "

PLUGEROO TIME:

Mission High's annual Athletic Alumni banquet rolls around again day after tomorrow (Friday, March 3). It's at the Seven Hills Restaurant at 26 California Street near Market, beginning with cocktails at 7 (that's AM, not PM, gang), dinner at 8. Price of the dinner is $6.50, which includes tax and tip.

All former Mission athletes are invited to attend, but actually, we've seen so many from Balboa, Commerce, Poly — and yes, even Sacred Heart — that it doesn't really make any difference at what high school you did your jocking. As long as the spirit is there, you're acceptable. And after a few drinks, nobody really cares whether you were an athlete or not, or even if you're a woman. If you can stand us, we can stand you.

On Saturday, March 11, San Francisco State has its fifth annual "Get Ready for Football" Clinic at the State men's gym, beginning at 9 a.m.

The clinic is designed for football players and coaches from the Pop Warner leagues, park and recreation, high school, junior college, college and university teams.

Featured will be 49er offensive linemen Len Rhode and Elmer Collett, Raider linebacker Dan Connors, Gator head coach Vic Rowen, and S.F. State authority on conditioning, Dr. Steve Evans.

Registration fee for the all-day clinic is $3. For further information contact Vic Rowen, Clinic Director, San Francisco State College, 1600 Holloway Avenue, San Francisco, Callif., 94132. Phone 469-2219.

Terra Nova High's school publication, Tiger Tales, is in the midst of its sponsored one-on-one schoolwide competition. Sixty or more students and about a dozen teachers are now busily eliminating themselves. The promotion has gone over so well (there are actually spectators for the after-school competition) that it may be followed immediately by a free throw contest, which will certainly be a break for those faculty members with good eyes and bad feet.

It's all the brainstorm of Tiger Tales' co-Sports Editor Steve Calais, who is, coincidentally, a basketball player. There was some staff concern over the legitimacy of Calais, as tournament director, entering the competition himself, especially when he got past the first round. Some feel he should disqualify himself.

As one of his classmates has pointed out, however, there's really nothing to worry about. If Calais plays long enough, he'll disqualify himself whether he wants to or not.

Speaking of one-on-one, it's ironic, isn't it, that the NBA can get all that publicity with its one-on-one televised competition, when baseball's been doing it daily for years (or isn't pitcher against hitter one-on-one?)

Speaking further of one-on-one, who do you think would come out winners in a Chamberlain-Jabbar one-on-one? For what it's worth, entering this season, Chamberlain still had the best lifetime scoring average — 33.1 to 30.2.

Last week we told of some local former prep wrestlers who are on the S.F. State wrestling varsity roster. We should have also mentioned locals contributing greatly to Skyline College's wrestling program. From Terra Nova there are Tom Cherhoniak and Jeff Smith, and from Oceana Mike Villarreal and Owen Gabbert.

Skyliner's Finish Fine

It only has taken three years to accomplish what many people figured would take Skyline Junior College a decade to do—that is, beat every basketball team in the Camino Norte Conference.

"I think this disproves the theory that it takes years to construct a program at this level," said Trojan coach Walt Rilliet. "Martin was the only team we hadn't defeated in the conference and our last game of the 1972 season solved that problem."

The Trojans upended visiting Marin, 76-61 Saturday night, with a 49-point second half blitz set up by guard Mike Larios' lightening-quick passes and outside marksmanship.

Matt Kriletich took the conference scoring title with a 22-point output against Marin. Contra Costa's Wayne Kemp, who trailed Kriletich by four points, got 22 himself in a 109-91 Comet win over Santa Rosa.

The win gave the Trojans a 9-5 CNC mark, good for fourth place.

"This group of sophomores Kriletich, Larios, Paul Reynolds, Pete Saco and Dale Conway, really made the year enjoyable," said Rilliet. "They worked hard and fought for everything out there. It will be tough to lose so many good players at the same time."

After 27-all halftime tie, Larios showed disdain for the Marin full-court press and set up double-figure scoring for his four starting teammates.

Even Saco got his lone score off a Larios pass, which earned Saco a sitting ovation and a post-game shoulder-high carry off the court.

Prep Snafu Ended

By JERRY LITTRELL

Contrary to popular belief all this post-season basketball action is not, repeat not, leading up to an eight-team championship tournament at Stanford University.

Ttrue, there will be eight teams at Stanford two weeks from now but only four will be in the Central Coast Section championships again — the same title-playoff system the area has had the past few years.

Here's how the situation will work: the winners of the Mid-Peninsula League and West Catholic Athletic League Shaughnessy Playoffs will meet next Friday evening, March 3, at the College of San Mateo gymnasium.

The winner of that game will go to Stanford — but not for the title playoff yet. So will the winner of the North Peninsula League playoff.

Eight teams will be at Stanford on March 8 in a move that, in effect, just centralizes the first-round bye teams against their regional competition. Instead of playing in their own counties, as in the past few years, the teams will congregate at Stanford.

On Wednesday, March 8, the NPL winner will play the winner of the MPL-WCAL at 7 p.m. At 8:30 p.m. the winner of the Santa Theresa Athletic League will play the winner of Region III — possibly West Valley or Mt. Hamilton High School.

Thursday evening at 7 p.m. the Coast Athletic Association champion plays the Region IV title holder (probably Alisal HS) while the 8:30 p.m. nightcap pits the South Peninsula Athletic League champ against the Santa Clara Valley title holder.

Losers of these four games go home for 1972.

The winners stick around for a two-night, four team championship playoff at Stanford on Friday and Saturday nights, March 10 and 11.

Fifty Years in San Bruno Drug Business

Not very many businessmen can say that they have owned and operated a business in one city for a full half-century.

That is the accomplishment this week of Joshua D. Maule Jr., who with his father opened Maule's Drug Store in San Bruno back in 1922 — when the city held a population of only 3000 souls.

Today, after having moved twice on San Mate Avenue, Maule's Drugs is located in a spacious 1972-era building at 575 San Mateo Avenue.

In 1927, Mr. Maule Jr. married his wife Mary Jane who has been a great help to him in his business activities. She also found the time to raise five children, Joshua III, Jane Joan, James, and Jusy. They all worked in the store at one time.

The Maule Drug Co. of '72 is a far cry from the tiny store at the original site.

Five decades later Maules' is one of the largest independent drug firms in the county.

The heart of Maule Drug Co. is the efficient prescription department which has served the medical needs of the area for 50 years. The store now has a number of departments and a crew of clerks.

Mr. Maule has operated the store since the beginning. However there has always been another Josh to assist him in his work. First it was did . . and now its son. Like his son, Josh Maule Sr. was a warm gentleman who knew how to serve his customers' needs.

Until Mr. Maule Sr's. death in 1943, he and his son represented the words drug store. They personally served the drug needs of the people of San Bruno.

Now, it's Joshua III, a graduate of Golden Gate College who is managing the store. He is constantly checking with wholesalers to find values that he can offer to the customers of Maule Drug. Co.

Josh III is very involved in the community. He is a director and member of the executive board of the Chamber of Commerce. He also is co-chairman of a committee working to landscape and improve the appearance of downtown San Bruno.

Joshua III married his wife Linda in 1968. She has worked in the store and they have two children, Kimberly and Daniel.

Josh Maule Jr. points with pride to his most recent store which opened in 1951. Never one to live in the past, he has continued to build and keep up with the growth in San Bruno. Three times in the past 10 years he has remodeled the store. During the most recent remodeling a large beautiful red carpeted Hallmark Card & Party Shop was added to the store.

Mr. Maule Jr. says, "I am proved to be a member of the pharmaceutical profession, dealing with the health of the community."

Mr. Maule Jr. also paid tribute to the contributions to the health of this community made by its many fine doctors. He was on the original board of directors of Peninsula Hospital.

The prescription department's chief pharmacist is Henry Mansfield who has been with the Maule Drug Co. for 30 years.

Mr. Mansfield, by constant reading and attending study meetings, keeps constantly informed on the latest discoveries and changes in the drug industry.

In Maule's large cosmetic department featuring many well-known fragrances and treatment lines one is sure to find efficient assistance by Dorothy Beamar.

The Hallmark Department filled with a huge selection of cards, stationery, books and party goods, presided over by Elva Rosa. Customers are also served by Marlene Strong and Bob Littlefield. Doris Dull, bookkeeper, also occasionally waits on customers during a busy period.

Josh Jr. and Josh III both said they would like to thank the community and their many customers for 50 years of success in serving the needs of the area. "Customer service and satsifaction are prime factors in a successful business. We invite every one to come and share in this anniversary by taking advantage of the tremendous bargains in every department," the younger Mr. Maule said.

Leads Heart Campaign

Frank Lindstrom will head the 1972 Heart Fund Campaign in San Mateo County, it was announced today by Fred C. Boler, chairman of the board of the San Mateo County Heart Association.

The campaign will be conducted througout the county during February. Lindstrom will be assisted by: John Penna, South San Francisco; Walter McCullough, San Mateo and Richard D. Mills, Redwood City, as regional chairmen in the Business Campaign for the Heart Fund. City chairmen who will serve during the month-long campaign are: Patrick Urbina, Daly City; Terry Mirri, South San Francisco; Frank D'Amico, San Bruno; Charles Yetter, Millbrae; Andy Kerr, Burlingame; Kurt Wisser, Belmont; John Provenzale, Redwood City; Jim Audebent, Menlo Park and Don Mosunic, San Carlos.

"Heart and blood vessel diseases cost the nation $17.3 billion annually, including lost income and payment of medical care," Frank Lindstrom said. "In addition, these diseases cost business and industry about 52,000,000 lost man-days of production.

"These are the economic facts of cardiovascular disease that no businessman can afford to overlook," said Lindstrom. "However, dollars alone do not tell the story," he added, "since it is impossible to compute the human suffering and disruption of family life that results from more than one million deaths annually caused by heart and blood vessel diseases."

Among these deaths, heart attack will strike more than 670,000 men and women in 1972. More than half of these victims will die outside the hospital, many of them because they fail to act quickly and receive medical attention when heart attack symptoms first appear.

During the San Mateo County Heart Association campaign throughout February, Lindstrom said area firms will be asked to cooperate in the fight against this major health problem and distribute "Heartsaver" literature to their executives and employees.

"The Heartsaver" is a new publication from the Heart Association which tells how to reduce the risk of heart attack, the early warning signs of heart attack and what to do when symptoms occur.

Minibike Park Nixed in Pacifica

Pacifica's council agenda last night contained a potpourri of items, important only to those directly affected.

A planned mini bike park in Pacifica's Fairmont section was voted down unanimously after strong opposition by residents, punctuated with a 570-name petition.

The Parks, Beach and Recreation Commission was instructed to work with two motorcycle groups in the city in an effort to find a more suitable spot away from the residential area.

Councilmen also said it would be a good idea if the police department would "crack down" on illegal mini bike riders.

Then there was the appeal of D. S. Kavanagh to amend use permit conditions allowing for 22 open car ports instead of being required to make a total of 60 individual garages. He lost on a 3-2 vote.

Councilman Dan Modena argued that the council policy was not established one way or the other, and until the police department came forward and said they wanted closed units instead of open ones for suveillance, he thought the contractor had a good argument.

No one representing the police was in the audience. But Councilman Stan Farber moved to have the council policy such that there would be closed garages required.

Modena's negative vote was supported by Councilman Harland Minshew who said he didn't think the council had gotten deep enough into the issue to make an appropriate decision.

The issue of hiring Landscape Architect Jack Buktenica for construction drawings of Frontierland Parkside became a hotly debated issue again.

The matter was finally held up again, too, pending a report from Director of Public Works Dwight French as to what would be handled by the city in the contract and what those costs would be.

Councilman Stan Farber said that before he paid out $18,000 for a complete set of drawings he wanted to be sure there would be money enough to proceed with construction. Frontierland committeeman Dick Mier promised money would come from somewhere.

Several residents, including council candidate Virginia Jaeger, suggested that the city staff do the work, and put the $18,000 that would be paid to the architect into the park itself.

It was Mrs. Jaeger who reopened the issue after three council members voted 2-1 two weeks ago to hire Buktenica. Her contention was that there is a required 3-2 vote on all money allocations.

Apparently the staff is qualified to do the work, although resident Nate Marks got no specific answer to that question. It was intimated that the reason the staff couldn't do it was because it would take them away from other duties.

Another re-run, which also was set aside (for the tenth time) was the proposed home occupation ordinance.

No agreement could be reached on just how the ordinance snould be implemented to protect all residents and businessmen.

It was put off for a re-draft that would specify that there would be protection for those in the neighborhood (from noise, etc.) as well as protection to the city in keeping businesses from completely evacuating city offices for the home setup.

Councilman Farber, a pharmacist, said that under the wording of the present ordinance he would be able to open a pharmacy in his home, although it might necessitate a minor variance request.

A review board, as well as putting a dollar limitation on gross receipts, were two methods suggested as answers to the dilemma of how to keep everybody happy.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

After 32 years on Broadway, during which time Elia Kazan directed five plays that won Pulitzer Prizes and two films that won Oscars, he has turned novelist.

"At age 62, I'm more reflective and find writing more rewarding. I'm able to explore themes that interest me.

"Films are a great adventure, a safari run by construction gangs or technical crews."

His third novel "The Assassins" (Stein and Day, $7.95) is about two murders. But the core of the book is not the murders but a murderous way of life.

"The idea came to me for the book after I'd read about the killings of hippies on four air force bases in the country within a short time of each other in Florida, Arizona, Ohio and California. It was always over someone's daughter.

"In all communities, the murder was approved of by the people of power and influence who say they would have done the same thing. I wondered how the youngsters would feel so, as does Flores in the book, I went to communes and to Death Valley to talk with them.

"They're cautious at first. They thought me a narco agent or someone to be suspicious of. But after an hour, they had sized me up and told me the most intimate things. They don't ask about me, about Brando, or Jimmy Dean.

"When I did research on the military bases, I got passes by presenting myself as a filmmaker and novelist. After awhile the surveillance eased. I found out what I wanted to know by hanging around the bars."

Kazan's first novel was "America, America," and his second, "The Arrangement," both of which were made into films that he claims were "financial disasters." He is 100 pages into his fourth novel, a continuation of "America, America."

He hasn't totally forsaken films. Budd Schulberg is writing a film about a Puerto Rican family in New York, "In the Streets," and Kazan will direct. His most recent project was directing a film script his 33 year old son Chris wrote, "The Visitor" that has just opened in New York.

While in San Francisco, he visited with his younger son, Nick Kazan, whose plays are performed in Berkeley by the Magic Theatre.

"The Assassins" is number eight on the national best seller lists but has not been sold to a film studio. If it reaches the top of the list, the author feels it "will be easier to secure financing.

"I won't give it to a studio. But I'd give it to one of several young directors I admire for a piece of the profits. I feel it should be made in documentary style.

"Most of my films rate mixed notices in America but are praised in England and France. 'Viva Zapata' and 'America, America' are considered classics now but were total disasters at the time. I thought 'Baby Doll' was an excellent film and I think 'Wild River,' made in 1961, someday will be recognized.

"It's a matter of survival that I weather criticism well. I used to get angry at the critics and columnists but no more. They're just clowns making a living."

His actress-writer wife, Barbara Loden, is currently working on another film project in which she will direct and star.

F.C. Bond Sale Before Council

An agreement on future bond sales, a proposal for power line easement beautification and a petition against a 614-unit apartment development came to the Foster City Council last night.

The bond financing agreement came with an accord on park acquisition which would be financed by a bond election by Nov. 1, 1974.

This set of proposals has been worked out after nearly two years of negotiations between city officials and Centex Corp. of Dallas, Tex., and Centex-West, its Foster City-based subsidiary. Centex owns most of the remaining unsubdivided property in Foster City.

The council, sitting as the Estero Municipal Improvement District board of directors, last night set two public hearings, one at 8 p.m. Monday, March 6, at city hall and the other at 8 p.m. Monday, March 13, at Bowditch School, the latter in expectation of a large crowd.

Basically, Centex has agreed to the district's position that the remaining $19,146,000 in district water, sewer, street and reclamation bonds should be paid off, when sold, through tax levies only on undeveloped, unsubdivided or benefiting properties.

The idea, as Board President Wayne A. McFadden explained, is to keep the present residents' bond redemption tax level from going up. The $65 million in outstanding Estero bonds now poses a large burden on taxpayers in Foster City and has brought many complaints. This agreement is the district's response.

The district bond tax rate would be adjusted so the actual dollar amount now paid by homeowners would stay the same, although there may be "minor change" which would be applied equally.

Capitalized interest, or the period of paying interest only before the principal can be paid, would be limited to two years. Some district bonds have been interest-only for 5 to 30 years now.

Full amortization would be in no more than 34 years of the date of sale.

There will be no bond sales to "complete the entire district development" — develop all buildable areas of Foster City — "unless limited to a (separate) improvement district which pays 100 per cent of all bond amortization and other costs." This is because with no unsubdivided land left the burden would fall on individual property owners effected.

The remaining 41.16 acres of park land in the general plan would be sold to the city by Jan. 1, 1975, at $15,000 an acre, subject to the bond election, but with accumulated taxes and 6 per cent yearly interest added if purchased by the city after that. Total estimated price would be $617,400.

The agreement also provides for dedication to the city by Centex of 4.35 acres of lagoon property plus 28.4 acres scattered in various undeveloped neighborhoods, by May 1, 1972, or after a city park dedication ordinance amendment providing for this.

McFadden said the $15,000 per acre sale price was a compromise between the city's appraisal of the $13,000 and the developer's estimate of $25,000 an acre.

The council set a public hearing for 6 p.m. Thursday, March 9, on a set of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. proposals for beautification of its two mile-long high-tension line easement through Foster City.

The council has been attempting to get the lines undergrounded and McFadden and Councilman William E. Walker took exception to a PG&E estimate last night that full undergrounding could be 50 to 100 years away because technology hasn't advanced far enough.

"I thought eight to ten years was reasonable," McFadden noted.

Undergrounding of transmission lines along Foster City Boulevard could cost $13,980,000, PG&E said. Transition stations at each end of the underground portion would be necessary and the estimated cost doesn't include landscaping of the easement, PG&E said.

The council didn't indicate pleasure at the PG&E proposal to replace the present lattice towers with 120-foot-high steel tubular poles, either.
